SELECTION OF BREED FOR CONFINEMENT.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times, the Poultry Correspondent says:—

Last week we gave a few hints to help in choosing the best breed for confinement. Whatever the breed chosen let it be pure, for, although we have frequently advised first crosses, they are more suited for the farmer or those with extensive range. We think also that, for a small number, one breed is enough. If it is desired to hatch from the birds kept a sitting breed should be chosen; but, on the whole, the better plan for the backyarder is to purchase pullets every year, renewing the stock in this way by clearing off half the number at the end of the season. Those who have sufficient space for a large number might keep two breeds, one from the non-sitters and one of the broodies; and, if a first cross could also be kept, breeds to suit should be chosen for crossing.

Work on the Farm with a

CHEVROLET TRUCKS 6

Two horses for one ton of oats—one Chevrolet with Trailer for two-and-a-half tons (at four times the speed).

A drawing from a photograph, showing a Chevrolet and Trailer taking an awkward incline with two-and-a-half tons of oats.

More journeys and bigger loads in less time . . .

When the weather is threatening, with a Chevrolet truck you can get your crops in in half the time. You can deliver 241 gallons of milk in half the time the horse and cart takes. You can carry your cattle quickly and in safety, instead of having to drive them along dangerous roads. With it you can visit distant markets, and so get the best price for your produce.

But remember it must be a CHEVROLET truck. Ordinary trucks are meant for city delivery service—but the Chevrolet truck is specially suited to bad roads and farm work. It has a powerful six-cylinder engine and a 4-speed gear box with a "caterpillar" gear. This special gear is half the speed of a "low" gear, and enables Chevrolet to travel over fields and pull out of rough ground like a military tank.

We, at Doyles Motors, will be pleased to have a chat with you about your own transport problems. We have a special easy payment system for farmers, so arranged that your payments are less just when you can least spare the cash.

Never a "hold-up" with a Chevrolet Truck when you have Doyles Service to back you. We run a special Chevrolet spare parts and service department.

LORRY WITH BACK TO FRONT.

(BEFORE MR. LITTLE.)

A. H. Mons, a motor mechanic, of Victoria street, off South Circular road, was charged with having driven a motor lorry so constructed that, as driver, he had not a reasonable view of the traffic in front of him. He was also charged with having driven without a licence.

Messrs. Doyle's Motors, Ltd., St. Stephen's Green, were charged with aiding and abetting in the alleged offences.

BODY REVERSED.

Sergeant Curry, giving evidence, said that the lorry was going along Westmoreland street towards O'Connell Bridge when he saw it, and to him it appeared to be driven backward. He could not see the driver, but he put up his hand to signal to the driver to go into Aston's quay, and the driver did so.

When the lorry stopped he examined it, and found that the body had been taken off and turned round in the opposite direction, so that the front was to the back and the back to the front. The steering wheel, of course, had not been altered, but in the lorry, where it was turned to the back, there was a man dressed up as Harold Lloyd, with the usual horn-rimmed glasses, sitting at an imaginary wheel as if he were at an ordinary wheel. This man was sitting with his back to the driver, who was more or less concealed, like the driver of an armoured car, looking out through two slits.

In the opinion of the witness the driver could not have a full view of the road.

A photograph having been exhibited,

The Justice said that he had never seen anything like "that freak exhibition—a car that was driven backwards."

Sergeant Curry—In this case it was to advertise a picture entitled "Welcome Danger." A car like that may be all very well in Hollywood, but it is a very different thing in Dublin traffic.

SERGEANT'S EXPERIMENT.

The witness added that he got into the lorry himself and sat at the wheel, while a Guard got a youth, 4 ft. 4 or 5 ins. in height, to stand in front. The boy was 8 ft. from the front of the lorry before he could see the top of his head; so that if the boy was 6 ft. in front of the lorry he could not see him at all. When this lorry was travelling anyone would think that the front was the back, and the driver was so low down in it that he could not have a proper view of the road or of the traffic on it.

Mr. Cooke, of Messrs. Doyle's Motors, Ltd., was examined by Mr. Shiels, solicitor, for the defence, and said that he tested the vehicle and passed it before sending it out. During the Horse Show he drove it himself past at least a hundred policemen between Bachelor's Walk and Ballsbridge, and had not been summoned. He had not the slightest difficulty in seeing anybody on the road when driving the vehicle, and never had an accident with it. It was perfectly easy to handle.

Sergeant Curry—What was the idea of reversing the car?—Purely to attract attention.

"He admitted to me," said Sergeant Curry, "that it was made to deceive."

The Witness—Publicity was the whole point of it.

LIKE AN ARMOURED CAR.

A. H. Mons, the driver of the vehicle, said that he drove round the city for a week, and met with no difficulty. He was going at only four miles an hour, and was stopped by a Guard on only one occasion. He had perfect control of the lorry, which worked in the same way as an armoured car, of which he had experience. He had been driving motor vehicles for twenty-seven years.

Sergeant Curry said that he did not wish to press the charge, but if such vehicles were allowed to continue to use the streets of Dublin the results might be very serious.

Mr. Shiels said that the vehicle had been driven round Dublin, and as far as Kingstown, in the busiest week of the year, and there had not been an accident with it.

The Justice dismissed the charge of driving without a licence, and fined Messrs. Doyle's Motors, Ltd., 40s. and Mons 10s. on the other charges.

A DISASTROUS COLLISION.

HACKNEY COLLAPSES "LIKE A PANTOMIME CONTRAPTION."

In a case in which John Kavanagh, taxi-cab driver, Dalkey, was charged with having driven his taxi-cab in a reckless manner in Brunswick street on the 19th ult., evidence was given by William Taylor, Charlemont street, that as he was driving his hackney car out of Townsend street the defendant's taxi-cab approached at such a reckless rate that he could not get out of its way, and a collision took place. His car was reduced to fragments.

The defendant said that he was going slowly, and "only pushed against the hackney car, which fell to pieces in a moment." (Laughter.)

Malachai O'Reilly, an independent witness, said that a 'bus going towards Westland row obstructed the view of the taxi-driver and the hackney driver, and they ran into each other, both having stopped and moved on again. The hackney car "collapsed like a pantomime contraption." (Laughter.)

The Justice said that the thoroughfare at the Crampton memorial, where the collision took place, was most embarrassing, and was rendered very difficult because of traffic coming from Hawkins street and Townsend street. He was impressed by the evidence of Mr. O'Reilly, and he dismissed the case.

ANOTHER MAN'S CAR.

CHARGE OF DRUNKENNESS FOLLOWS COLLISION.

Robert Turner, Fairview, was charged on remand with being drunk in charge of a motor car; driving in a manner dangerous to the public, and driving a motor car without a licence.

The defendant said that while testing a car which was given to him to have some adjustments carried out, he unfortunately ran into a 'bus. He had only two bottles of stout. The 'bus was stopped at Fairview terrace, and after the collision he pulled up, and then went into town to find the owner of the car to report the accident to him. In the city he had two small whiskies.

Answering Mr. P. H. O'Reilly, solicitor, who appeared for him, the defendant said that he was "slightly stunned," because his head struck the steering wheel during the collision.

The Justice fined defendant 40s. on the first charge, 40s. on the second, and 10s. on the third.

TAXI-DRIVER'S FARE.

TURF COMMISSION AGENT FINED

Leo Birt, turf commission agent, was charged with refusing to pay Thomas Johnson, Eastmorland lane, taxi-cab driver, his legal fare of 3s. 6d. for the use of his cab, from 11.30 p.m. on the 16th to 1.30 a.m. on the 17th inst.

The defendant, having heard the evidence against him, said that he could not get change at the time to pay the driver.

The Justice fined the defendant 5s., and directed him to pay 5s. compensation to the cab-driver, and 3s. 6d. the amount of his fare.

Subsequently the defendant was put in the dock, charged with having been disorderly and having used bad language in the court yard. He stated that he was going away to get the money to pay the cabman and a Civic Guard obstructed him.

The Justice, observing that he did not think that the defendant was normal, remanded him.

LODGING IN A CATTLE WAGON.

James Nolan (40), James Woods (32), Christopher Caffrey (25), Mary Keogh (28), and Sarah Keogh (18), all unemployed and of no fixed residence, were charged with lodging in a cattle wagon, the property of the Great Southern Railways, at Liffey Junction yesterday morning.

Nolan said that he was an ex-soldier who had no pension, no dole, and no relief. All he got out of the Army was malaria for his service in India.

The Justice said that it was obvious that the defendants were in poor circumstances, and he did not like to record a conviction against them. They would be remanded in custody for a week, and in the meanwhile the Court Probation Officer would take an interest in them.

BAD LANGUAGE.

Mary Kinsella, Corporation Buildings, was fined 10s. for using bad language.

Christopher McMahon, Bride road, was fined 10s. for being drunk and disorderly and 20s. for using bad language.

DUBLIN UNION FINANCE.

At a meeting of the Dublin Union Commissioners yesterday it was reported that there was a debit balance at the bank of £46,459 3s. 9d. The Dublin County Council had lodged £8,000 on account of the second instalment of demand for the quarter ending the 30th September. The amounts remaining due by the contributory bodies in respect of the same instalment of demand are:—Dublin Corporation, £23,145 5s.; Dublin County Council, £13,000.

CONFERENCE ON STEEL STRUCTURES RESEARCH.

A conference on steel structures research will be held in the lecture theatre of the Institution of Civil Engineers, London, on October 16. The purpose of the conference is to promote discussion of the work and objects of the Steel Structures Research Committee of the Department of Scientific and Industrial Research. This Committee has been set up to review existing regulations for the use of structural steel in buildings and bridges, and to investigate the possibilities of more efficient and economical design. In order to ensure the effective application of the results of the Committee's work it is felt to be desirable at an early stage to enlist the interest and co-operation of various bodies concerned. The conference will, therefore, provide an opportunity for an exchange of views and for a consideration of various suggestions that have been made, in particular the feasibility of formulating a standard practice in the use of structural steel in building throughout the United Kingdom. Invitations have been addressed to local authorities and professional and technical organisations concerned. Any bodies who have not received invitations, and who would wish to be represented at the conference, are requested to communicate with the Secretary, Department of Scientific and Industrial Research, 16 Old Queen street, Westminster, London, S.W.1. The proceedings of this conference will be followed with great interest by the building industry.

MR. J. VINCENT BRADLEY'S NEW PREMISES, 25 NASSAU ST.

The Children's Shoe Shop, opened at 25 Nassau street, Dublin, by Mr. J. Vincent Bradley, has already attained an exceptional measure of popularity because the entire establishment is devoted to children's footwear.

It is claimed to be one of the first shops of its kind in Ireland. It is designed and decorated to children's tastes; the buying being carried out in the atmosphere of the nursery. An excellent service is offered by a staff specially trained in fitting children.

On account of expanding business at No. 23 Nassau street, Mr. Bradley acquired the premises at No. 25, and had them modernised and extended into the spacious and comfortable saloon illustrated in the photograph below.

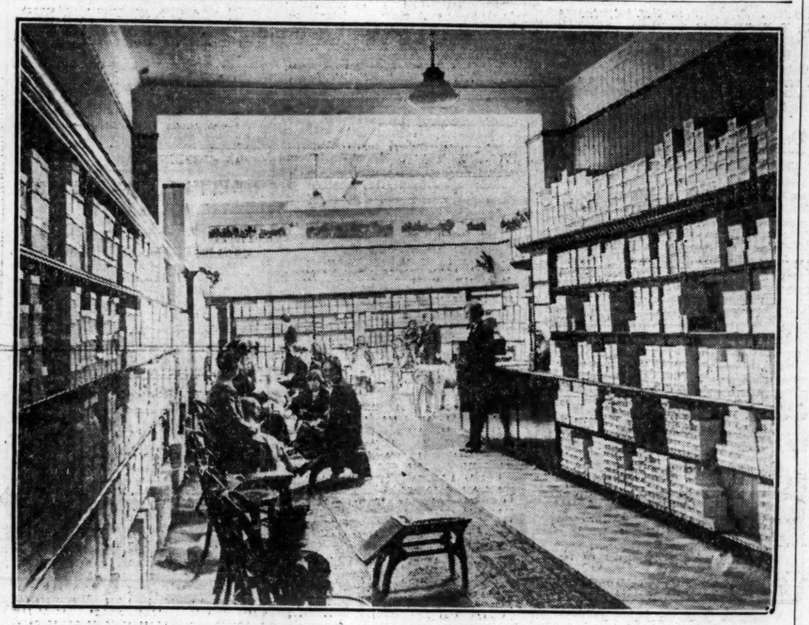

While No. 25 is devoted exclusively to children, No. 23 continues to supply the demands of ladies and gentlemen.

The new shop-front shown above is constructed on modern lines, with cellulose bronze framing, green pearl granite plinth and pilasters, mahogany doors and fascia, sand blasted and etched coloured in transom and enclosure.

The general contractors for the work were Messrs. G. Squire and Co., 12 Upper Abbey street, Dublin.

The architects for the new extension were Messrs. Higginbotham and Stafford, 3 Clare street.

The painting and decorating, which includes a Zoo frieze round the shop, were carried out by Messrs. H. Sibthorpe and Son, Ltd.

BUILDING TRADES EXHIBITION.

A REMARKABLE DISPLAY.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.
LONDON, Wednesday.

At Olympia this morning Lord Burnham opened the fine and comprehensive exhibition of the building trades. It is thirty-five years ago since the first Building Exhibition was held, when the exhibitors numbered only eighty-seven. To-day they numbered nearly four hundred. The show is extremely well arranged, and along its many wide avenues is to be found virtually everything pertaining to the building craft. There are rows of stalls containing nothing but stoves of the latest model, and machines showing how the washing-up of a great hotel or restaurant is managed with the minimum of labour. A tank of bubbling boiling water, a rack filled with plates descends, and on ascending again is dropped into a tank of cold water. The plates are then shunted along, clean and dry.

A bungalow roofed with cedar tiles is charmingly fitted and furnished, and has a garden of its own. Beautiful house fittings of marble and wood are the work of disabled ex-Service men, and in strong contrast are the plain and substantial fittings of a model kitchen, where the cook has nothing to do while at work but to open and shut doors and jars, even the flour descending through its proper funnel into a receptacle. Less picturesque, but just as useful, are the many varieties of door and window frames, the bricks, stones and mortar, the wonderful schemes to prevent damp from interfering with the comfort of a household. Gas is represented by displays of appliances for heating, cooking and lighting, and the variety of designs for each is endless.

ROOFING.

Materials for roofing are shown in abundance, and among these ruberoid is notable. The material has been employed for over 35 years on buildings of all types, and it can be laid on wood or concrete and on flat or curved roofs. Made in three colours—grey, red and green, all of a permanent standard—ruberoid is also turned out with a slate finish, formed by crushing natural slate into the surface during manufacture. The stand of this company contains some interesting demonstrations of the use of the materials, for there is a ruberoid damp-course of a very satisfactory character, and there is the Pluvex roofing felt, which is a self-finished material designed for the covering of small buildings, and which does not require tarring, painting or coating. The stall also contains an interesting collection of paints of a preservative character for submerged metal work or metal exposed to the weather.

A charming exhibit is that of the Westmorland green slate quarries, of Cumberland. It is a pavilion, covered with the green slates of the firm, rendered with "Snowcrete," the only white Portland cement, made in the country, and supplied by the Cement Marketing Company. The union is highly effective and striking. The Cement Marketing Company, of Westminster, have a special stand for the exhibition of their notable products. A display is made of "Blue Circle," the best ordinary Portland cement, and "Ferrocrete," which is said to be the finest rapid hardening variety, and "Colorcrete," a coloured and rapid hardening variety in buff and red. Another extremely interesting demonstration of the uses of cement is that of the British Portland Cement Association; it illustrates the use of the material in building. A great variety of well-arranged exhibits include various types of concrete building units, with examples of cast stone work and examples of work finished with white or coloured cements. At frequent intervals a plasterer demonstrates the method of procuring different types of stucco and rendering.

A number of Government departments interested in the exhibition have exhibits purely of an official character, and consisting mainly of literature. In this connection the Department of Scientific and Industrial Research is remarkable for the variety and usefulness of its exhibit.

Lord Burnham, at the opening ceremony, said that at a time like the present the exhibition had a special importance, both in town and countryside. The whole of England, he added, is under reconstruction, and we have to see that reconstruction has to mean regeneration, and not degeneration. That, of course, lies with the architects and the building industry. He pointed out that nearly half the building of the country was now not due to private enterprise, but came from grants-in-aid and local charges. That imposed an obligation on the building trade; for, as their opportunity was great, so was there the need for their services to be used in the right way.

Speaking of tradition in architecture, he said: "In England we cannot do without tradition. It is in the very atmosphere we breathe; and, therefore, to ignore tradition is useless. What we want is to combine congruity of grace with congruity of service. What we have to do now is to reconcile the spirit of the age with the spirit of the ages." He expressed the hope that more attention would be paid to the small houses in the suburbs.

Sir Banister Fletcher, chairman of the exhibition, who presided, said that the exhibition kept architects up-to-date in various types of buildings, materials and novel inventions. If brought together, architects, builders and manufacturers in a friendly way, and, in addition, it had a great educational value.

THE CHAIRMAN.

The Chairman said that the Association had been doing philanthropic work for the past forty years, and its members were doing their best to prevent the destruction of game. Since the present Free State Government came into office they had been urging that game should be protected, as a national asset, and the Government had passed the Game Preservation Act, and many of its provisions were made on the representation of the Association.

The Chairman added that the local people in the country were waking up to the importance of the matter, and they would have the co-operation of the Association in their action.

REVENUE FROM GAME LICENCES.

Mr. McCricker, representative of Imperial Industries, Limited, mentioned that the Government received an income of about £60,000 a year from game licences. They surely ought to allow some percentage of that for game protection.

The Secretary—It amounted to £58,000 last year.

The following resolution, proposed by Mr. T. Roberts Garvey, F.S.I., and seconded by Mr. Otway G. Toler, was passed unanimously: "That the Minister for Justice be requested to make an order prohibiting the killing of partridges for one year under Section 6 of the Game Preservation Act, 1930."

Apologies for inability to attend were received from:—The Earl of Granard, Mr. Bowes Daly, Major Dermot McCalmont, Lord Langford, Major Evelyn Shirley, Captain T. A. Clarke, Captain George Hewson, F.S.I.; Sir George O. Colthurst, Bart.; Mr. Edmond B. Concanon, Mr. T. G. Hudson, Captain William Kemmis, Mrs. E. S. Darley, Mr. Allan P. FASHIONABLE WEDDING

LADY HELENA ROUS AND MAJOR BERESFORD-ASH.

The biggest society wedding of the month took place yesterday afternoon between Lady Helena Rous, youngest daughter of the Earl and Countess of Stradbroke, and Major Douglas Beresford-Ash at St. Martin-in-the-Fields, London. The weather was fine. A great crowd gathered, and the traffic at this always busy spot became a problem, which the presence of extra policemen solved.

Ten bridesmaids awaited the bride just inside the doors of the church. They were Lady Charlotte Rous, her sister; the Hon. Anne Baring, Miss Marye Pole-Carew, Miss Rachel Hicks-Beach, Miss Marion Burrell and Miss Kathleen Ahern, and four small girls, Miss Patricia Beresford, Miss Fiona MacLean, Miss Judy Slessor and Miss Patricia Wavell.

The older girls had graceful frocks of gold lace and net, with long, tight-fitting bodices, with frills at the neck, and long skirts gathered to the low waistline, with a ruching of net. Their little veils of turquoise blue net were held by golden dahlias to their heads. Their satin shoes were to tone. Each walked with a tall gold cane decorated with a bunch of gold and flame-coloured zinnias. These flowers also trimmed the church at the chancel rails.

The younger girls had short frocks of gold net, and wore little golden wreaths, and they were provided with miniature flower-trimmed canes.

The Hon. John Baring accompanied the bridegroom as best man.

The first arrivals had been Viscount Dunwich, who, with his younger brothers, the Hon. George and the Hon. Peter Rous, ushered people to their seats. Shortly before the bride arrived came Colonel and Lady Florence Beresford-Ash, of Ashbrook, County Londonderry, parents of the bridegroom. The Countess of Stradbroke, in a long coat of black, bordered with fox fur, and a smart black hat, was with her bridesmaid-daughter, Lady Charlotte Rous, and Viscountess Dunwich, the latter wearing a powder-blue toilette.

There was some traffic delay before the bride, a handsome figure, in palest pink satin and wonderful old lace, arrived. Lord Stradbroke was a gallant escort and wore a grey morning suit with a lily-of-the-valley buttonhole. The bride's dress of supple satin was entirely covered by her train of heirloom Brussels lace, which had been worn by her mother at her wedding, and again by Lady Dunwich more recently. Then from her head, held by an orange blossom wreath, was more of this lovely lace, that which has been used for the Christenings in the Earl of Stradbroke's family.

The bride, who held no flowers, passed on her father's arm up the aisle to where the Bishop of Norwich waited to officiate. In this he was assisted by the Rev. H. Studdert, of St. Martin's. While the register was being signed and the "Londonderry Air" played the little bridesmaids gave white heather favours from silver baskets to the assembled guests.

Lady Stradbroke held a reception at her home in Belgrave square afterwards, the presents being on view there. Among those who were present were the following relatives of the bridegroom, who is related to the Marquis of Sligo:—Lord and Lady Arthur Browne, Lady Alice Mahon, Lady Isabel Browne, Lady Norah More, Mr. Jasper More, Mr. Terence More, and Colonel and Mrs. Marcus Beresford.

Others present were:—Viscount and Viscountess Dunwich, the Hon. George and the Hon. Peter Rous, Lady Clodagh Anson, Lady Isabel Talbot de Malahide, the Hon. Lady Norman, Lord and Lady Askwith; May, Lady Hemphill; the Hon. Mrs. Borras Whiteside, Sir William and Lady Mitchell Cotts, Sir Thomas and Lady Gooch, Lady Kathleen Villiers, Lady Evelyn Ward; Violet, Lady Beaumont; the Hon. Mrs. Henry Yorke and Lady Hamilton.

PRINCESS ELIZABETH'S PARTY.

Princess Elizabeth yesterday gave a party at Glamis Castle to about twenty children, and throughout the afternoon the beautiful grounds echoed to the sound of laughter, as the small guests and their Royal hostess played on the lawns. The Dutch gardens, over which the guests were conducted by their hostess, presented a delightful picture. A visit was paid to the baby Princess, and some of the guests had a ride on Princess Elizabeth's pony. The Princess presided at tea. During the morning a large supply of balloons and other toys arrived at the Castle for the party.

Landladies and Fires.

During the holiday season that is drawing to a close a new standard has been set up by which seaside landladies and the keepers of small country hotels are judged. The best recommendation that could be given to them this unfortunate summer was that they provided—or allowed their guests to provide—a fire.

Most of us know all too well the seaside lodgings in which the grates of the sitting-rooms were tastefully decorated with a coat of enamel, and filled with quantities of coloured paper that must not be disturbed. Confronted with such elaborate preparations, one could only shiver in silence, though, fortunately, in the days of one's youth a summer like this was not often experienced. In one little hotel on an August day this year an order for tea seemed to carry with it automatically an unspoken request for a fire, and in a few minutes one forgot the rain and the wind, and basked in the warmth of the red pyramid of turf.

It was a pathetic sight to see the visitors at a popular watering-place troop dejectedly back from the shore, with the rain dripping from garments that must remain wet until the sun shone again. "What can you do?" one holiday-maker asked hopelessly; "it is even colder in the house."

This year the really popular landlady was the one who provided a fire for her guests, or allowed them to sully her ornamented grate with the coals they provided for themselves.

Hollyhocks.

The tall hollyhocks that matched their slender height against so many white cottages by the roadside are beginning to look tired, and the traveller will miss their brightness as he passes by. A long time ago hollyhocks were known as "tame mallowes," and it was said that the roots, leaves and seeds "serve for all those things for which the wild mallowes are most commonly and familiarly used." One writer speaks of them as "Rosa Ultra Marino, or Outlandish Rose."

Goodall writes appreciatively of the hollyhock as an ornament to a garden, and says a good deal about the height to which these plants may grow. "These hollihockes," he wrote, "are sowne in gardens, almost everywhere, and are in vaine sought elswhere. The floures are sometimes red or white, and now and then of a deep purple colour, varying diversely as nature list to play with it; in their places groweth up a round knop like a little cake made up of a multitude of flat seeds like little cheeses."

Vanishing Personalities.

The start of every new Rugby season robs the game of some outstanding personality. Anno Domini or pressure of business lay claims that can no longer be denied by all. This year Ireland and England suffer in the passing of two great captains—G. V. Stephenson and W. W. Wakefield. The former loss is more intimate. George Stephenson, who led the Irish XV. in 1928, 1929 and in 1930, possesses more caps than any other player of the present or of any generation. A classic centre, brilliant in attack and magnificent in defence, his retirement will present the Irish selectors with a pretty problem this season. The withdrawal of Wakefield from the game is the natural outcome of a grave internal injury received at the close of last season. The famous Harlequin forward, who is in his 33rd year, played an inspiring game up to the last moment, and his absence will be keenly felt by the famous club. One of the greatest forwards of his time, "Wakkers," as he was widely known, holds the record number of English caps.

DR. STEPHENSON.

Armagh Revisited.

There is an allure about Armagh which makes it difficult for me not to turn aside to visit it whenever I find myself within a reasonable distance of it. Alone among Irish provincial towns it bears the unmistakeable cachet of high antiquity, which is matched only by its mediæval flavour. The steep declivities, narrow and winding streets, and the markets clustering at the feet of either cathedral call to mind the cities of the Middle Ages, and, when I remember the spacious green of its Mall, taking it all in all I am irresistibly reminded of Verulamium with its superimposed St. Alban's. There is a wonderful charm about those entries that sometimes lead to, sometimes pass actually under, arches that may be anything in the way of centuries old. It is not every day that one can visit a town that translates, say, Gloucester and Cheltenham into Irish. To me that is the achievement of Evan Macha.

The Kettle Memorial.

The memorial to the late T. M. Kettle in St. Stephen's Green seems to be in rather the same position as the National War Memorial. In these damp and murky days its appearance is that of a forlorn and deserted thing, and it is surely time that the bust should be erected on the pedestal that has now stood for several years incomplete.

During the summer visitors might be seen standing before it wondering, no doubt, why it should be left incomplete. Many asked the reason, but no one is in a position to give an answer. At one time there was supposed to be some difficulty about the inscription, but now that difficulty seems to have been cleared.

This open space about the equestrian statue in the middle of St. Stephen's Green is an ideal place for such small memorials, and in time it may be the recognised place for memorials to artists and literary people.

A New Consul-General.

I had the pleasure yesterday of meeting the latest recruit to the growing corps of diplomatic and consular representatives in Dublin. He is Doctor Luis Marquez, the new Consul-General for Venezuela.

DR. MARQUEZ.

Dr. Marquez, who has just arrived in Dublin, is a man of note in South America, having made a reputation in the Latin countries as a criminal lawyer and also as a poet. He is a graduate of the University of Caracas, and practised for some years in the capital as a lawyer. When he joined the Consular Service he was sent as Consul-General to Rome, where he published a number of poems in the best Italian reviews. From Rome he went as Commercial Attaché to the Venezuelan Legation in Berlin, whence he has come to establish the first Consulate-General for his country in Dublin.

Venezuela and Ireland.

The connection between Venezuela and Ireland might seem to the uninitiated to be remote; but Dr. Marquez assures me that his fellow-countrymen have a great regard for this country. When the South American Republics were fighting their war of liberation a British Legion went out to help them in their struggle, and, as seems to be inevitable in such circumstances, most of the legionaries were Irishmen. One of them, General O'Leary, became Private Secretary and Chief of Staff to Bolivar, the great liberator, while two other Irishmen, apparently from the North, named McGregor and Wilson, also played a leading part in the fighting. The Government of Venezuela has decided to establish a Consulate-General in Dublin merely as a gesture of sympathy with the Irish people. Dr. Marquez hopes to be able to persuade his Government to buy Irish horses—it ordered a thousand horses for the Venezuelan Army some weeks ago from the Continent—and also to develop a trade in coffee and cocoa. Venezuela is one of the greatest coffee-producing countries in the world. Its cocoa also is first-class, while it recently has become the second greatest petrol-producing country in the world.

A Happy Land.

Venezuela is in the happy position of having no external debt, being probably unique in this respect. It also hopes to have its domestic debt paid off before Christmas. Certainly it must be a pleasant country in which to live. It has made remarkable progress of recent years. There was a time when it was given over to revolution; but when President Juan Gomez took over control the whole situation changed. Venezuela now has a perfectly stable Government, and is one of the most prosperous States in South America. General Gomez no longer is President. He is Commander-in-Chief of the Army, but the new President, Dr. Perez, is carrying on his predecessor's tradition with notable success.

The Blackberry.

The blackberry, though such a September favourite nearer home, is singularly neglected in France. Few French folk think of picking the harvest of the hedgerows, and tons of fruit go to waste every autumn in consequence. If you ask why, one Frenchman may tell you that the berries are poisonous, another that they do not suit the national palate, and are too fragile to be worth picking for exportation. In some parts, especially in Brittany, the visitor who picks and eats the berries is apt to find himself regarded as an ogre; for the peasantry believe that the bramble formed the Crown of Thorns, and is, therefore, accursed.

"Scran."

In Ireland we know the word "scran" in the phrase "Bad scran to you," which would be better rendered by "Bad fare to you" than "Bad luck to you." Scran does not mean "luck," except by metaphor; it means simply something eatable—broken victuals especially. Of course, when the Irish widow went to kneel at her husband's grave and a nettle, too obtrusive, or intrusive stung her, so that she cried out as she jumped up: "Arrah! bad scran to ye, Peter; for living or dead there was always a sting in ye," she merely used a figure of speech, as a dead man could hardly need food.

The Centenary of Hazlitt.

The 18th September, writes a correspondent, marks the centenary of the death of William Hazlitt, one of the greatest of prose writers, and, perhaps, the foremost dramatic critic that England has produced. Hazlitt was born at Maidstone in 1778, the son of a Unitarian clergyman, who came from Co. Antrim. He was originally intended for the ministry, but took up painting instead, and might have attained high rank as an artist had not the influence of Coleridge drawn him to literature. Here he found his true medium, and his published works amount to some twenty-five volumes. The best known of these are "Table Talk" and "Sketches and Essays," of which there have been many cheap editions. In his private life Hazlitt seems to have been very unhappy; according to his biographers he was wayward, rash and irascible, and suffered frequently from fits of melancholy. The uncertainty of his temperament, however, is in no way reflected in his writings, the spontaneity and vigour of which have rarely been equalled.

An Enduring Influence.

It has been said that the four great prose writers who have most influenced the development of the English language have been Swift, Defoe, Sterne and Hazlitt. There have been others more subtle and more mellifluous, more decorative and perhaps more decorous; but for sheer power and economy of expression it is hardly necessary to go beyond these four. It was to Hazlitt, more than to any other, that Robert Louis Stevenson chose to play the "sedulous ape." To read any one of the essays in "Table Talk," or, better still, to listen to one of them being read aloud, is to realise how the varied cadence of the firmly-built sentences lends strength and continuity to the pattern of the whole. There are to be found in the best modern writers echoes from the pages of Hazlitt, because they have all been, consciously or unconsciously, influenced by him.

Berry Street.

The destruction by fire of the National Club in Berry street, Belfast, will be a severe blow to the Nationalists of Belfast. It will be almost as severe to all those Nationalists of an older generation who have had happy recollections of its hospitable rooms.

MR. J. DEVLIN, M.P.

Twenty years ago Barry street Club was a power in Irish Nationalist politics, and its name was bandied about in the squabbles which rent political nationalism. Its founder and controller, Joseph Devlin, was then regarded as somewhat diabolical by some Irish politicians, and his headquarters were at the Berry street Club. Its name even figured in some trials at the old Dublin Police Courts in cases connected with a National Convention.

Almost all the great names associated with Irish parliamentary Nationalism were familiar to Berry street, and almost every one of their owners had at some time been on the club premises.

Mal de Mer.

New remedies for sea-sickness are constantly cropping up, and the latest—that of carrying a small bottle of mercury, not for internal use, but to act as a kind of mascot—has the merit of being at least a good deal less disagreeable than some that have been advocated. Perhaps, the most elaborate means of prevention on record was that prescribed for an English princess in the seventeenth century when she crossed from Dover to Calais. For internal application she had cinnamon, coriander, anise, ambergris, musk and sugar, made into a kind of sugar-stick for her to munch. Externally she was treated with plasters of balsam of Peru, gum mastic and laudanum, and was instructed to inhale "vapours compounded of toasted bread, orange and citron peel, rose leaves, lavender and cloves." At intervals also she took pick-me-ups of hot claret, spiced with rosemary, cinnamon and sugar.

SALE OF THE SCRIPTURES

630 VERSIONS.

The Scriptures have been translated into 886 forms of human speech. Of this total the British and Foreign Bible Society had published 630 versions up to last March. This figure is made up of 147 complete Bibles, 153 New Testaments, and 330 integral portions, consisting of at least one book of Scripture. The Rev. E. W. Smith, Literary Superintendent, states in the Society's Popular Report, "In the Mother Tongue" (price 6d., by post 8d.), that the Editorial Committee's minutes for the last twelve months contain references to 180 languages and dialects. Last year the Society outstripped all its previous records in disseminating copies of the Scriptures. For the first time in its history the twelve-million mark was reached and exceeded. The exact figures are 12,175,292.

No fewer than 900 colporteurs are employed by the Society in all parts of the world. Almost all the colporteurs are of the same nationality as the people to whom they minister. If not, they speak the language fluently and know the people intimately. Probably, says the Rev. E. W. Smith, the most accomplished linguist among them is the Rev. Dr. Heine in Canada, who habitually uses fifteen languages in his work among the immigrants, and is said to speak twenty-four. The colporteurs last year sold no fewer than nearly 8,000,000 copies; but they meet with curious experiences. Some people are superstitious, and regard the Bible as a talisman or amulet. A woman in Bohemia was prepared to buy a Bible if the colporteur could guarantee that her goat would give more milk as a result. Somebody, she declared, had bewitched the animal, and she could get little or no milk from it. In order to carry on its work successfully the Bible Society requires an income of £450,000 a year.

The King has approved the appointment of the Rev. George Arthur Hollis, M.A., Canon Residentiary of the Cathedral of Wells, and Principal of Wells Theological College, to the Suffragan Bishopric of the Diocese of Bath and Wells, which will be vacant as from December 31, 1930, by the resignation of the Right Rev. and Venerable Charles Fane de Salis, D.D. The Suffragan Bishopric is that of Taunton.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

OUTDOOR RELIEF.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—A letter appeared in your columns some time ago in which Miss S. C. Harrison raised many interesting questions relating to the administration of outdoor relief on the system of "food only." In her letter Miss Harrison showed clearly and convincingly that sanatoria and asylums were likely to be filled if the present system were maintained, and it would be of interest to those who are concerned for the quality of our citizens to know whether there is another side—an authoritative other side—to the statements contained in Miss Harrison's letter. If the facts are as stated, it would appear that the Dublin ratepayer unwittingly is in the position of administering relief on a "cat and mouse" principle, as the letter seems to show that the return of a man or woman from a rates-maintained or charitably maintained institution to no work and insufficient relief simply connotes a fresh breakdown and a da capo of suffering and waste.

The points indicated by Miss Harrison—that "relief in food" inhibits payment of rent from relief sources, and that "relief in food" is reduced on the slightest indication of even casual industry on the part of a relief recipient—call up a vision of a condition of affairs that can only form a forcing-bed for discontent, bitterness and disease. It would be of interest to know if there is any possible contradiction to that letter.—Yours, etc.,

FLOODS AT CLONTARF.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Nearly everyone who lives in Clontarf has suffered delay and inconvenience from the flood water at some time or another, especially if his dwelling-house happens to be at a point beyond Castle avenue from the city. We all endure, with smiling faces, the delay caused by the severe gales of wind and the consequent stoppage of trams. We wait, if we have the time to spare, till the tide falls; if not, we trek round the backroads, wondering the while if our return journey will be as bad.

With the filling in of Fairview Park we see another area getting flooded at Malahide road. Many of Dublin's citizens have seen this; indeed, the rainfall has not to be exceptional for the thing to happen. Most of the residents are unaware of the fact that, when this happens, the entire section of the main drain as far down as Vernon avenue fails or is taxed beyond its carrying capacity. The worst sufferers are the Parish Priest of Clontarf and his housekeeper, as the main drain overflows into their kitchen and rises to a depth of four inches. On the subsiding of the flood all this water has to be shovelled or swept out—sewage water at that. Is it necessary to enlarge?

Other houses along the sea-front have the plugs of the intercepting traps blown off—an intercepting trap is a safeguard against injurious gases from sewers—causing a subsequent stoppage of the house-drain. This may not be observed for quite a long period of time; indeed, almost invariably the inspection is a forced one. It is to be hoped that, on completion of the present work at the pumping station, a periodical inspection of the house-drains will be carried out, to ensure that there is no further danger to health from this source.—Yours, etc.,

BRITISH CONCESSION AT AMOY.

RENDITION AGREEMENT.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
NANKING, Wednesday.

Sir Miles Lampson, the British Minister to China, and Dr. C. T. Wang, the Chinese Foreign Minister, this afternoon signed and exchanged Notes covering the agreement reached between them in connection with the rendition of the British concession at Amoy.

ILLNESS OF PRINCESS ILEANA.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
BUCHAREST, Wednesday.

Princess Ileana has been suffering from a rheumatic complaint for several days. A medical bulletin issued to-day says that she is now appreciably better, and is no longer feverish.

Princess Ileana is the youngest daughter of Queen Marie of Rumania. She became engaged last January to Count Hochberg, son of Daisy Princess of Pless, but the engagement was broken after objections had been raised by the Rumanian Government.

ARTISTS' REJECTED PICTURES.

PUBLIC ASKED TO ACT AS JUDGES.

Two Scottish artists have created interest in Northern art circles by deciding to invite the decision of the public upon pictures of theirs rejected by the Royal Glasgow Institute of Fine Arts, whose annual exhibition is about to open.

The artists are Mr. Archibald McGlashan and Mr. Robert Sivell, and they have arranged for a public exhibition of their rejected works in Glasgow to-day.

Mr. Sivell, who was the recipient of the Guthrie Award in the Royal Scottish Academy last year, considers that the picture that he had had rejected is probably the best work that he has painted.

There may be a spirited controversy over the other rejected picture, which is entitled simply "Nude." This is by Mr. McGlashan, and shows a recumbent figure on a coach with red drapery behind it.

Glasgow is by no means innocent of nudes in its Corporation collection, and the rejection of the present picture may reawaken the discussion that created some stir many years ago when Glasgow looked askance at "The Slave Market."

A FORTY-PASSENGER FLYING BOAT.

TWENTY SLEEPING BERTHS.

Mr. R. J. Mitchell, designer of the machine which won the last two Schneider Trophy Races, described, in an interview with a Press Association reporter at Southampton yesterday, a great flying boat of his design, which is to be constructed at the Vickers' (Aviation), Limited, works at Wollston, near Southampton.

"This new flying boat," he said, "will be the biggest to be constructed so far in this country. We expect to start work on the construction of the machine within the next few days, and it will be completed in eighteen months or two years. It has been ordered by the Air Ministry, primarily as an experimental machine. If it proves successful, it will be sent on long-distance cruises to the East, or across the Atlantic.

"It will be a six-engine, all-metal monoplane, with the engines mounted above the wing, which has a tip-to-top span of 160 feet. The hull of the machine will be 20 feet high and over 100 feet long, and the weight when loaded, will be over 34 tons. There will be accommodation in five cabins for forty passengers, with sleeping berths for twenty."

Mr. Mitchell estimated that the top speed would be about 155 to 160 miles per hour, and the cruising speed about 130 miles per hour. The main constructional parts of the machine would be built of stainless steel.

WORK OF ALPHONSE LEGROS.

EXHIBITION IN DUBLIN.

Such a treat as a comprehensive exhibition of works by a master of etching and dry-point is rare—if, indeed, it is not unprecedented—in Dublin. The exhibition at the Victor Waddington Galleries, 28 South Anne street (arranged with the co-operation of Messrs. Colnaghi, of Bond street, London), contains 55 pictures by Alphonse Legros, who is generally recognised as one of the greatest, if not the greatest, of etchers.

Legros, who died in 1911, had a long career as a professor in England, but his unusual genius preserved his work from the professional taint. There is nothing of the academic about the awful strength of "Le Mort du Vagabond" (No. 13 in the exhibition), or in the sombre perfection of "La Ferme au Grand Arbre" (14), "Au bord de l'eau" (23), or—a particular gem—"Le Soir: coucher de Soleil" (21). A trace of the schools appear in "Paysan quittant sa femme pour suivre la Fortune" (46), but that is the fault of the subject. Normally, it is in the conception and design, even more than the clarity of line and suggestion, of his work that Legros shines above other masters. Perhaps, he is the only master of dry-point and etching who possesses something of the intellectual content of the great masters in oils.

A few things in this exhibition are conspicuous above the others: yet the whole array does not contain half a dozen second rate pictures. Mr. Victor Waddington deserves all credit.

FIFTY YEARS A LORD LIEUTENANT.

KING CONGRATULATES LORD ABERDEEN.

The Marquess of Aberdeen and Temair, who yesterday attained his jubilee as Lord Lieutenant of Aberdeenshire, received many congratulatory messages.

The King sent the following telegram from Balmoral Castle:—

"As I understand that your Commission as Lord Lieutenant of Aberdeenshire was granted by Queen Victoria on September 17th, 1880, I offer you my sincere congratulations on the completion of fifty years in that office, and assure you of my high appreciation of the services which you have rendered as the representative of three successive Sovereigns."

Lord Aberdeen replied:—

"Your Majesty's most gracious and encouraging message is inexpressibly gratifying, and will always be treasured by myself, and also by Lady Aberdeen and my family. It has always been a source of pride to have the honour of serving Your Majesty, and your two illustrious predecessors, in the county which has the distinction of being that in which Your Majesty and the Queen have made your Highland home, and to know that my grandfather had for many years the same privilege."

Among other messages of congratulation received by Lord Aberdeen was one from each of the Deputy-Lieutenants, including the Marquess of Huntly, who has been a Deputy-Lieutenant for sixty-one years.

THE LATE CHANCELLOR DOWSE.

CORK HARBOUR BOARD'S SYMPATHY.

Cork Harbour Board yesterday passed a motion extending sympathy to the Bishop of Cork, the Right Rev. Dr. Dowse, on the recent death of his brother, Chancellor Dowse, in Dublin.

Mr. R. S. Anthony, T.D., who proposed the motion, said that, like his brother, the late Chancellor Dowse was a man of broad and liberal views, a scholarly and cultured gentleman, and a man who took a deep interest in the temporal and spiritual welfare of his flock and an interest in the affairs of the country. They deeply deplored his death.

Mr. Hugo Flinn, T.D., seconded the resolution, which was spoken to by Mr. Horne and Mr. Haughton, and passed, the Chairman, Mr. R. Wallace, having associated himself with it.

THE BLACKROCK COUNCIL.

A vote of condolence with the relatives of Chancellor Dowse was passed at last night's meeting of the Blackrock Urban Council, Mr. C. McKernan, Chairman, presiding.

Mr. Downey, who moved the resolution, said that Mr. Dowse was a man of very kindly disposition, a good Christian pastor, who was beloved by all with whom he came in contact. He was an excellent member of the community. He (Mr. Downey) deeply regretted the late Chancellor's death so soon after his retirement.

Mr. S. Byrne seconded the motion, and said that Chancellor Dowse had been a very worthy citizen.

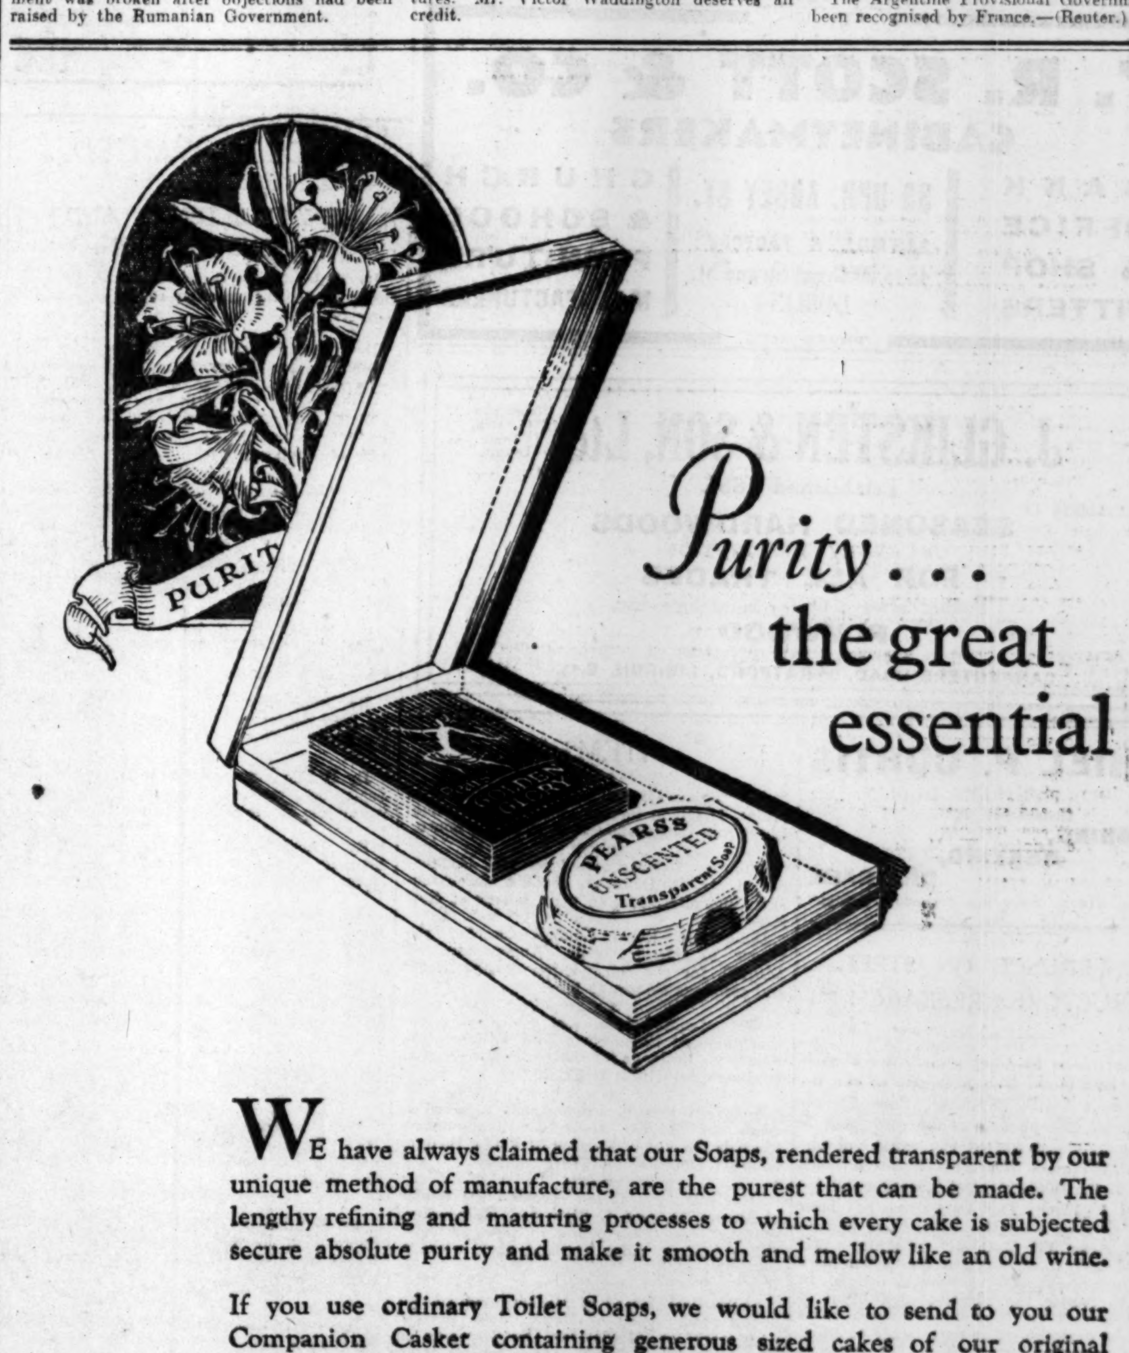

BRITISH AGRICULTURAL MARKETING BILL.

SCOTTISH COMMITTEE'S APPROVAL.

The Agricultural Marketing Bill has been under the consideration of the Scottish Agricultural Organisation Society's Finance Sub-Committee, and they have expressed the unanimous approval, subject to amendment in points of detail, that they regard the bill as an initial and essential step towards the solution of the agricultural industry's problems, entirely removed from the arena of party politics.

The Committee are not impressed with the assertion that the effect of the bill will be to destroy individual skill and enterprise. On the contrary, with the advent of universal grading of home produce, the really efficient and enterprising producer will reap his due reward, while the public will be able to satisfy themselves that they are getting what they ask and pay for.

CARE OF MENTAL DEFECTIVES.

GRANGEGORMAN HOSPITAL.

PRAISE FOR OUTGOING COMMITTEE.

The Joint Committee of Management of the Grangegorman Mental Hospital met yesterday, when the Chairman (Mr. C. M. Byrne) and several other members, realising that that might be the last meeting, paid tribute to the services rendered by Dr. O'Connell Donelan, Resident Medical Superintendent; the Chief Clerk, Mr. Doyle, and the staff, all agreeing that the institution had been administerd in a most efficient manner.

Dr. Donelan, on his part, thanked the members of the Committee for the support which had been extended to him consistently in the management of the hospital, remarking that he appreciated most of all their kindness to the patients. The frequent visits of members to Grangegorman and Portrane, he said, had been a source of comfort and consolation to the patients, who wished him to thank them on their behalf.

ADDED DISTRICTS.

A letter was on the table from the Local Government and Public Health Department, stating that it had been suggested to the Town Clerk of Dublin that the City Council should appoint twenty-eight members to the Joint Committee for the remainder of the current triennial period. In the apportionment of the expenses for the half-year ending September, 1931, patients belonging to the added urban districts, and the added rural area, would be charged to the city. With regard to the period ending 31st March, 1931, the necessary financial adjustment between the City Corporation and the County Council could be made under Section 19 of the Local Government (Dublin) Act, 1930.

The Town Clerk wrote, stating that the added rural areas would not be included in the extended city until the 1st April, 1931, and that no difficulty would arise in arranging for payment of the cost of maintenance of patients from these added areas, as from the appointed day until the 31st March, 1931.

THE ACCOUNTS.

It was reported that the accounts passed for payment during the past month amounted to £23,220. The Committee was short by £3,567 of the amount required to meet its revenue account payments, but of the total revenue payments, £9,724, would not become due until October 1st, by which date further payments on account of estimates and demand, doubtless, would have been received from the contributing councils.

The Chief Clerk further reported that the City Treasurer had lodged £18,000 on foot of the second quarter's instalment of estimate and demand, leaving £10,550 still due. There was still due from the Wicklow and Louth County Councils a total of £19,242.

Dr. Donelan, Resident Medical Superintendent, reported that there were now in the hospital 1,850 males and 1,877 females, making a total of 3,727. Of these, 903 men and 727 women were at the Portrane branch hospital. The number of patients showed an increase of 49 as compared with the same date last year. Since the last meeting of the Committee 19 males and 18 females were admitted. The general health of the patients was satisfactory.

EXAMINATIONS.

It was reported that the following Portrane candidates had passed the final examination, held under the Royal Medico-Psychological Association, for nursing certificate:—John Farrell, Michael Kincella, Patrick O'Brien, Margaret Doyle, Bridget Kelly and Mary C. Redmond.

The following from Grangegorman had passed their examinations:—Attendants William Baker, Thomas Kenna, A. E. O'Donnell, James Porter, Patrick Wallace; Nurses Bridget Boylan, Mary Dunne, Anne Farrell and Bridget O'Keeffe.

PEAMOUNT INDUSTRIES.

NEW DEPARTMENT TO BE OPENED.

The Governor-General of the Free State will visit the new industrial village settlement at the Peamount Sanatorium, near Dublin, on Thursday, 25th inst., at 3.30 p.m. He will be received by the Marchioness of Aberdeen and Temair, President of the Women's National Health Association; Sir Conway Dwyer, Chairman of the Peamount Committee of Management, and members of the committees of both organisations, and will formally declare open a newly-constructed workshop, in which tubercular patients from the Peamount Sanatorium will receive practical industrial training.

The new department of the Peamount Sanatorium follows very closely the system in operation at the Papworth Village Settlement, Cambridgeshire, where patients, after training, have an opportunity of becoming permanent employés of Papworth industries. By this means sufferers are enabled to live with their families under constant medical supervision and earn enough for their maintenance, instead of returning to the conditions in which they contracted tuberculosis.

After the opening ceremony, Mr. McNeill and Sir Conway Dwyer will speak, and guests will have an opportunity of inspecting, under the guidance of the manager, Mr. H. E. F. Hall, the work of the Peamount industries, which are already successfully executing orders for poultry houses and other portable wooden buildings manufactured by patients under training.

Later Dr. Alice Barry, F.R.C.P.I., the Resident Medical Officer of Peamount, will conduct the Governor-General to the Children's Pavilion, where a display of dancing will be given.

The Department of Local Government and Public Health has already signified its approval of the venture by authorising Boards of Health to send patients to Peamount for treatment allied to industrial training, and it is anticipated that many applications for admission will be received from all parts of the Free State, since at present no other institution in Ireland is able to offer similar benefits.

LOSS OF MEMORY.

MAN WHO DISAPPEARED AT DOLLYMOUNT.

Mr. Fred W. Tracey, of Saggart, County Dublin, a former secretary of Newlands Golf Club, who was feared to have been drowned when clothing identified as his was found near Curley's Hole, Dollymount, last Saturday week, has turned up alive.

On Sunday night a number of civilians reported to the Guards at Crumlin Barracks the presence in the district of a man who appeared to be destitute, and was wandering about scantily attired. The Guards brought the man to the barracks. He was dressed in an old pair of tweed trousers and a dark sports coat, under which he wore a bathing costume, and was in his bare feet. From his speech and general demeanour it was apparent that he was not of the ordinary vagrant class.

The man apparently was suffering from loss of memory. He could not give the Guards any assistance in establishing his identity, but said that he had been sleeping in fields and under trees, and living on blackberries. He was detained in the barracks for the night and on Monday was taken to the Dublin Union.

After the man had left for the Union, the Guards at Crumlin got into touch with the Rathcoole barracks. Mr. P. B. Tracey, who lives at his son's house in Saggart, was communicated with yesterday afternoon, and went to the Dublin Union. He recognised the man as his son, who had been missing for over a week, but the latter was unable to recognise his father. Later in the evening the whole family was re-united.

Mr. Tracey had served in France with the Munster Fusiliers, being wounded in 1918, as the result of which he was discharged. During 1918 and 1919 he was employed as an inspector under the Agricultural Wages Board, and in the following three years he was temporary inspector under the Local Government Board. In 1928, shortly after he returned from America, he was appointed secretary to the Newlands Golf Club, resigning in July last.

ST. COLUMCILLE'S HOSPITAL AND SWEEPSTAKES.

At a meeting of the Rathdown Guardians yesterday, Mr. A. W. Cullen, chairman, presiding, a letter was read from the Guardians' law agents, Messrs Shannon and Company, stating that, in their opinion, St. Columcille's Hospital, being maintained by the rates, was not entitled to participate in money derived from the Charities' Guild sweepstakes.

"THE BEST THAT MONEY CAN BUY."

In their advertisement referring to Sweet Afton cigarettes in this issue, Messrs. P. and J. Carroll and Co., Dundalk, draw attention to their scheme—comprising almost 300 attractive gifts—which can be obtained in exchange for the coupons to be found in every packet. Messrs. Carroll introduced this as a form of profit-sharing with the smoker. The gifts are given solely out of profits, not out of quality, as every Sweet Afton smoker knows. Their variety and usefulness make it well worth every one's while to save the coupons.

STOCKS CLOSE STEADY

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)

NEW YORK, Wednesday.

Stocks at the opening ruled irregular, and efforts to revive interest in an advance met with indifferent success. Several groups tended higher, notably Public Utilities and Food issues, but buying activity was limited and shorts did not hurry to cover. Many important issues rose from 1 to 3 points, but some Rails, Coppers and Motion Picture shares were heavy. The National Biscuit Company declared an extra dividend of 50 cents. Profit-taking featured late dealings and reduced earlier gains, the market closing steady. Government Bonds quiet; Railroad Bonds steady. The day's sales totalled 1,185,000 shares.

Money on call closed steady at 2 per cent. bid and 2¼ per cent. asked. All business during the day was concluded at 2 per cent. Sterling exchange steady. Silver ½c. up at 36⅞.

WINNIPEG GRAINS.

WHEAT opened steady, but ⅜c. to ½c. lower. Early declines were influenced by weakness on the Buenos Aires market, a denial of the reports of frost damage in Argentina, and renewed hedging, together with the belief that estimates of French import requirements were too high. Later the market recovered on shorts covering, reports stating that Canadian farmers had been advised to hold as much as possible to feed live stock, and also owing to the smaller receipts. The close was steady, with prices unchanged to ⅛c. down. Opening options—October, 80¼; December, 82¾; May, 89⅛. Closing options—October, 80⅝; December, 83⅛; May, 89⅛. Rye firm at 1⅛c. to ¾c. gain. At the eighth annual Show and Sale of the Irish Dairy Shorthorn Breeders' Society, in Cork yesterday, the entries showed a failing off of 40 per cent., and the quality was somewhat disappointing.—(Page 13.)

The Irish Game Protection Association, at its meeting in Dublin yesterday, passed a resolution asking the Minister for Justice to make an order prohibiting the killing of partridges for one year in the Free State.—(Page 4.)

In the course of a speech in Bhopal yesterday the Nawab of Bhopal, who is a delegate to the Round-table Conference in London, paid a tribute to the Viceroy, Lord Irwin, and deprecated the unfair criticism of his policy by certain people abroad.—(Page 8.)

It is not expected that there will be any clear cut view of the German political situation for another fortnight. Meanwhile the air is filled with rumours of possible coalition.—(Page 7.)

Very serious distress has been caused in Bengal by the fall in the price of jute, which, it is estimated, will cost the province about £7,500,000 in income this year.—(Page 7.)

FINANCIAL.

London Stock Markets were firmer, but there were weak spots. Argentine Rails went back on the reduced dividends.—(Page 12.)

Loan and discount rates were stiffer. The Bank sold £8,751 in bar gold, exported £5,000, and set aside £20,865 in sovereigns.—(Page 12.)

Dublin Market was stagnant. Local securities were supported.—(Page 12.)

Dublin and Geneva.

Yesterday at Geneva the Irish Free State was elected to one of the non-permanent seats on the Council of the League of Nations. There were three vacancies, and four candidates presented themselves for election. The Council of the League consists of six permanent and four non-permanent members. The permanent members are the Great Powers—Britain, the United States, France, Italy, Germany and Japan—and the remaining four are recruited from time to time from the members of the Assembly. An attempt is made to distribute the non-permanent seats fairly, and, to that end, unofficial groups have been formed in the Assembly. When the nominee of one group retires he is succeeded usually by another from the same group. On the present occasion the three retiring members were Cuba, Finland and Canada. In normal circumstances their seats would have been filled almost automatically by a South American, a Scandinavian and a British Commonwealth member of the Assembly; but the Irish Free State offered itself for election as an independent member of the League. Its candidature was supported by the entire British group, including Great Britain herself, with the result that the Irish Dominion was elected, together with Guatemala and Norway. Portugal, the only remaining candidate, was defeated by six votes.

The Free State's success is a signal compliment to the youngest of the Dominions, and we congratulate Mr. Cosgrave's Government on the honour that it has achieved. China was the Free State's most formidable rival for the third of the vacant seats; but, in order to become eligible for re-election, she needed a two-thirds vote of the Assembly. She was able to obtain only 27 votes out of 42, and the Free State was left with a virtually clear field. The Dublin Government has undertaken new responsibilities; for membership of the Council entails much work. All the more important issues that come before the League of Nations must be considered by the Council. It may be described as the executive arm of the Assembly, and the Free State representative will have an excellent opportunity during the next few years to acquaint himself with the major problems of international politics. Hitherto the Free State, in the nature of things, has tended towards introspection. Its internal problems have been magnified out of all proportion to their world importance, and its people have suffered through their lack of contact with the affairs of other nations. Membership of the League Council will be a liberal education for the Free State, and for that reason, if for none other, we welcome the result of yesterday's election.

A proper sense of proportion is needed badly in the Free State, and, perhaps, membership of the League Council will provide it. There is a danger, however, that undue importance may be attached to the Free State's new position. The League was formed eleven years ago with the best intentions, and undoubtedly its possibilities were enormous. Since that time, however, Europe has slipped back to her bad, old ways. The spirit of narrow nationalism never was stronger among the peoples than it is to-day, and, although lip-service still is paid to the League's ideals, in practice they are ignored. Signor Mussolini openly ridicules Geneva; the French use it for their own purposes; Herr Adolf Hitler will snap his fingers at its decrees. Without the United States of America and Soviet Russia, the League of Nations must remain an august debating society; and neither of these countries shows the slightest sign of desire to join its ranks. While, therefore, the Free State must do everything in its power to further the League's interests, it must not allow its eyes to wander too far afield. Its main concern is with Ireland; then comes the Empire of which it is a part, and finally comes the world of Geneva. A happy mean between domestic pre-occupation and international idealism is the best policy for the Free State. Its most urgent tasks are the development of trade relations with Great Britain and the establishment of a rapprochement with Northern Ireland. When these tasks have been accomplished the Government can begin to think about contributions to world policies.

The French in Syria.

To what extent the Syrian people, in a later age, will have cause to bless the memory of the French Mandate seems to be an open question. France's economic activities in the country have been many and helpful. Although it has been decided that the new pipe line from Kirkuk shall run to Haifa, which lies within the British Mandate, France has not been slow to realise that loopholes exist in this decision of which, with forethought, she may avail herself. Already experts have proposed, in deference to French wishes, that a branch shall be laid to Tripolis, and we must recognise that geographical circumstance favours this measure. Haifa, which lies some ninety miles south of Tripolis, not only is out of the direct line, but is handicapped—a fact often forgotten—by the hiatus in the coastal railway between Beirut and itself. Thus it is manifest that Syria, as a potential clearing-house of the oil trade, is vastly better placed than Palestine. A further handicap to British prospects is discernible. It was the old dream of Germany to complete the Baghdad railway, which at present stops some eighty miles short of the city of the Caliphs. The new pipe line from Kirkuk, when it is laid, will be followed by a road, and later—as we may suppose—by a railway, and the raison d'être of the German scheme, to a large extent, will cease to exist. None of these possibilities has escaped the French. Within the limits of the territories under their control they have instituted every manner of activity. Plans have been made to enlarge Beirut Harbour—a significant move—to lay a railway from Homs to Deirez Zor and to establish an air port at Tripolis. At this point we must mention that, for all intents and purposes, Syria is a French province. The old Turkish vilayets, now re-adjusted, have preserved, in a measure, their local government, but, in their relations to Paris, are little, if at all, superior to English county councils. It is on this point that the French may be said to have tripped. The Syrians, who for centuries, if spasmodically, have been in touch with European culture, resent the French policy which has proved so successful in Northern Africa. When the Eastern oil trade becomes the doyen of oil supply, Syria will hold a pre-eminent place. Whether the resultant profits will find their way into the pockets of the natives or will wander to France is another matter. The Syrian Republic, in the words of the Statesman's Year-Book, "has not yet been approved in its entirety by the Mandatory Power." Again, the same volume informs us that "a French army is in occupation of the whole country." A simple problem arises. Either Syria will become a permanent dependency of France or she will not. National feeling and British interests forbid the former; local incompetence at the moment deprecates the latter. It is unfortunate that French logic should be forcing so direct an issue at so early a date.

"Crook" Plays.

The late Major Cooper's play, "Let the Credit Go," which is staged at the Abbey Theatre this week, provokes an examination of that peculiarly modern development of human pathology, the "crook" play and novel. That the Abbey Theatre, one of the few remaining strongholds of the "uncommercial" drama, thus should depart from its traditions is symptomatic of the grip which detective fiction has obtained upon Irish audiences in common with those of other countries. What is the cause of the "blood's" strange popularity? The suggestion that an audience, or a reader, possesses an instinctive hatred of the criminal, and, like the Athenian audiences of yore, is anxious to see justice done, does not hold water. In Ireland, at all events, the old "agin the Government" spirit is anything but favourable to the ministers of justice, and the audience that applauds a policeman's acuteness on the stage is disposed in daily life to commend the felon who absconds successfully with the countess's jewels. Two possible explanations suggest themselves. One is that the average man, being neither an active law-breaker nor an active law-enforcer, takes pleasure in the contemplation of such unfamiliar forms of life. The other is that people enjoy the "blood" as they enjoy a puzzle. The criminal sets the puzzle, and every member of the audience projects himself into the position of the solver—that is to say, of the detective. He is led by cunning into blind alleys from which he extricates himself—precisely as the solver of puzzles makes mistakes, and is compelled to redeem them before he can proceed. Finally, the puzzle is solved, the felon is run to earth, and the audience is satisfied or dissatisfied according as its conclusions have, or have not, coincided with the triumph of the "sleuth."

Protection of Game.

In the interests of sport we recommend the Free State Government to incline its ear to a resolution which was adopted at yesterday's meeting of the Irish Game Protection Association. Earlier in this year the Oireachtas passed a Game Preservation Act designed to check the rapid diminution in numbers of game birds in the Free State. This Act not only repealed former measures for the protection of game, but imposed unusually severe penalties on anybody who ventured to trap or to kill game birds in their close seasons. So far as we can gather, the Act has not had sufficient time to exert a noticeable check on the decline of the birds, and there seems to be genuine cause for anxiety in regard to the partridge. Accordingly, the Irish Game Protection Association, which champions the interests of sportsmen in the Free State, has called upon the Minister for Justice to issue an order prohibiting the killing of partridges for the space of a year. In normal circumstances the close season for partridges would come to an end on September 30th, but the effect of the suggested prohibition would be to extend the close season until September 30th, 1931, after which time, if all went well, normal conditions would be restored. The proposal is worthy of attention. Ireland's shooting is one of her most valuable assets, and one which is likely to increase in value with future years. The stock of birds, however, has declined sorely for some time past, and a drastic measure is needed if the decline is not to continue until "shooting rights" are merely an empty name. Hitherto the Free State Government, reminiscent, perhaps, of Ireland's sporting tradition, has shown itself in full sympathy with the claims of the sportsman, and now it has an opportunity to increase his debt.

PRINCESS MARY AT EDINBURGH.

FREEDOM OF THE CITY.

The Freedom of Edinburgh was conferred on Princess Mary yesterday. She is the first royal lady to receive the honour. The Burgess roll already contained the names of the King, the Prince of Wales and the Dukes of York and Gloucester.

After expressing appreciation of the honour conferred upon her by the city, Princess Mary added: "I can assure you I feel it a privilege to be Colonel-in-Chief of the Royal Scots, which regiment is closely connected with Edinburgh. It is always a pleasure to visit your beautiful city."

The Princess was the guest of honour at a civic luncheon in the City Chamber. She afterwards unveiled a commemoration tablet at the city's new housing scheme, and unlocked one of the houses with a golden key.

CURRAGH RACES.

ST. LEGER DAY MEETING.

A large gathering assembled at the Curragh yesterday for the second day of the September meeting. A dull, cloudy morning held a prospect of rain, but, happily, the day held fine, and a most interesting day's racing was enjoyed by all. The victory of the Irish-owned Sol de Terre in the Irish St. Leger proved a most popular win, being greeted with rousing cheers.

There was a distinctly autumnal look about the surrounding country, where many of the trees are already turning a golden brown.

It was noted that fashions have undergone a complete change. Gone are the severe straight lines of yesterday; in their place are coat frocks and suits, fashioned with godets and shaped lines, while shoulder capes and little bows make attractive finishing touches to many ensembles. The skirt length has increased considerably. The newest creations were worn several inches below the knee. Softer materials were chosen for these styles, patterned beige and browns, and several mixture green tweeds were also remarked.

Among the attendance in the members' enclosure were noted:—Frances Marchioness Conyngham, the Earl of Altamont, the Lady de Freyne, Sir Anthony Weldon, Sir Henry and Lady Greer, Lord Portman, Sir Thomas Dixon, Sir Thomas and Lady Ainsworth, Sir Walter and Lady Nugent, Lady Grace, Sir T. C. O'Brien, the Hon. Gerald and Mrs. Wellesley, the Hon. Mrs. Dunne, Count and Countess McCormack, General and Mrs. Waldron, the Hon. GARDEN PARTY ON AN AERODROME.

200 GUESTS TAKE FLIGHTS.

The President of the Chartered Institute of Patent Agents, Mr. Griffith Brewer, gave a garden party at the London Air Park, Hanworth, to over 300 patent agents and several society people yesterday. This is probably the largest party which has been held on an aerodrome, and over 200 of Mr. Brewer's guests had flights in one or other of the machines which were chartered for the occasion.

Mr. Brewer claims to be the first Englishman to fly in an aeroplane, having made a trip with Wilbur Wright in October, 1908.

Among those present were:—Mr. and Mrs. Brewer, Sir Sefton Brancker, Director of Civil Aviation; Sir William Jarratt, Comptroller of the Patent Office; Sir Robert and Lady Robertson, Sir Thomas and Lady Purves, Sir George Fowler, the Countess of Carnwath, Mr. and Mrs. Handley Page and Air Commodore E. LONDON LETTER

THE GOVERNMENT IN CONCLAVE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

The Prime Minister presided this morning over the first of a series of Cabinet meetings to be held at No. 10 Downing street during the week. The only Minister absent was Mr. Arthur Henderson, the Foreign Secretary, who is at Geneva. It is understood that these meetings of the Cabinet have been arranged in order that there may be a survey of Government policy in view of the new parliamentary session at the close of next month, the gathering of the Imperial Conference and the Indian Round Table Conference in November. It is not surprising, in view of the extraordinary rise in the number of unemployed since last week, that the unemployment problem was in the minds of the Ministers to-day, and the Cabinet concentrated on its agricultural policy as one of a series of measures to provide employment. It is intended that early in the new session a Marketing Bill shall be introduced, with proposals for the extension of small holdings and, possibly, for other agricultural developments.

Maternity and the State.

The Ministry of Health is taking active steps to ascertain whether a national maternity service can be established in response to the recommendations of a Departmental Committee, which reported last month. In the Ministry's opinion, everything possible ought to be done to remedy a state of affairs wherein the deaths brought under notice were, in no fewer than one-half of the cases, preventible. As a preliminary step, the General Medical Council has been consulted with a view to the arrangement of discussions on the question, and it is hoped that an attempt will be made to secure greater qualifications for young doctors whose work includes maternity cases. New legislation may be necessary to carry out the proposals suggested, and there is doubt whether it can be introduced during next session, but it is hoped that time will be available for so important a need.

Slum Clearance.

The building trade unions have determined to take up the question of housing—particularly in relation to slum clearance—and the unions interested intend to open a national campaign shortly in order to arouse public opinion on the necessity for vigorous measures. A demonstration will be held in London in November, when the Bishop of Southwark, who is taking a very active part in the slum-clearing campaign, will be one of the speakers. It is the opinion of the unions that definite progress can be made with slum clearance if the local authorities will make full use of the powers given them recently under a new Act. It is claimed that no fewer than two and a half million houses are needed, and of this number one and a half million could be built under the measures. The building of these houses also would absorb a great number of the unemployed; for at present there are about one hundred and twenty thousand builders out of work.

Ecclesiastical Art.

The annual meeting of the Church of England Congress will be held at Newport, in Monmouthshire, next month, and the Prince of Wales has consented to be patron of the gathering. An exhibition of ecclesiastical art, to be held in connection with the Congress, promises to have quite unusual interest; for it will include a number of objects seldom seen by the public. The regalia used by the Prince of Wales for his Investiture at Carnarvon Castle, which includes a coronet, an orb and a sceptre, all made of Welsh gold, is among them. The King is sending the Dolgelly Chalice, which is one of the three famous pre-Reformation cups; the other two are the Bagton Chalice, from the Diocese of Hereford, which was once a part of the See of Llandaff, and the Clifton Chalice, from the Stratford-on-Avon district. The exhibition of these three cups alone will give a special interest to the collection of works of art.

The Channel "Glide."

An attempt probably will be made this autumn to cross the Straits of Dover in a glider; for the Aeronautical Association of the Pas de Calais is offering a prize to the first Frenchman who accomplishes this feat, and two airmen have been working for some time on a glider, which is housed for the present in a hangar on the Mayor of Sangatte's farm. It is understood that the glider is a biplane. The span of the upper and lower planes is practically the same—roughly about fifty feet—and the fuselage is some thirty-three feet long. The glider, it is said, shows in one respect a great advance on all former engine-less machines in that it does not need to be catapulted into the air or to take advantage of a steep slope for its take-off. The pilot himself is able to start the machine by means of an apparatus which needs no outside control. The airmen hope that by October 15th they will be ready, if the weather proves suitable, to make an attempt. They intend to ascend from the same field from which M. Louis Blériot started on his epoch-making Channel flight.

Cheques in Germany.

The business community on the Continent has been slow to take advantage of the cheque system, and the number of cheques used in minor financial transactions used to be infinitesimal as compared with that in this country and the United States. Apparently the distaste has been overcome, and the Germans actually have made an advance upon our system. A new commercial postcard cheque has been produced in Germany and is used in order to cut down overhead expenses. It is slightly larger than an ordinary postcard and is available for the payment of any amount up to one thousand marks. At one end of the card is a perforated strip giving details of the account. This strip can be removed, when the cheque can be cashed at a bank in the usual way.

The Premiers and the Fleet.

In order that the Dominion Prime Ministers may have an opportunity to see His Majesty's ships at sea, arrangements are being made for them to visit the Atlantic Fleet on November 1st. It is proposed that they shall embark in a battleship at Portland, and shall spend about six hours at sea, during which time they will witness various exercises by the ships of the Fleet. The number of guests who can be accommodated in the battleship naturally will be limited, and invitations, therefore, will be restricted to the Dominion Premiers and other representatives of the Dominions attending the Imperial Conference.

The Prince's Golf.

The Prince of Wales has made progress with his golf, and he may now describe himself as a single figure man. To score 82 and 80 in consecutive rounds at Le Touquet, where bogey is 76, can scarcely be regarded as the golf of a 12 handicap player, which the Prince of Wales officially is. When the Handicap Committee hold their next meeting he will probably become a nine man at the most. It is an open secret that the Prince of Wales would rather excel at golf than at any other game, not excluding his once favourite squash rackets.

FREE STATE ON LEAGUE COUNCIL.

SIGNAL HONOUR FOR THE YOUNGEST DOMINION.

NOTABLE INCIDENT AT GENEVA.

PORTUGAL FAILS TO SECURE ELECTION.

ONE of the first matters taken up at the Assembly of the League of Nations yesterday morning was the election of three members to fill the non-permanent seats on the Council of the League vacated by Canada, Finland and Cuba.

The youngest member of the British Commonwealth of Nations, the Irish Free State, was successful in securing election, the figures being:—

GUATEMALA .....FORTY-ONE VOTES.
NORWAY .....THIRTY-EIGHT VOTES.
IRISH FREE STATE .....THIRTY-SIX VOTES.

A fourth candidate, Portugal, secured only thirty votes.

China failed to secure the necessary majority for re-eligibility for election to a non-permanent seat on the Council.

HOW THE ELECTION WAS CARRIED OUT.

CHINA'S FAILURE: FOUR SPOILED VOTES.

FROM "THE TIMES" SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.
GENEVA, Wednesday.

The Assembly of the League of Nations this morning elected the Irish Free State, Norway and Guatemala to be members of the Council for the year beginning from to-day in the place of Canada, Finland and Cuba.

The voting was carried out in the Assembly Hall in the usual manner, Mr. Henderson and Mr. Matsudaira acting on this occasion as tellers while each national representative went up to the tribune and dropped his card with the names of his three favoured candidates into the voting urn.

The fifty-two members cast their votes as follows:—

Guatemala	41
Norway	38
Irish Free State	36
Portugal	30

A few votes were dispersed among the other countries.

The Council now consists of: Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan and Germany (permanent members) and Spain, Poland, Yugoslavia, Persia, Chile, Peru, Irish Free State, Norway and Guatemala.

Before the election of the new members the Assembly considered the claim of China to secure re-eligibility. Fifty-two votes were cast, of which four were spoiled. It thus became necessary for China to get 32 votes—two-thirds of 48—in order to be able to stand as a candidate for the Council this year. She failed by five votes, only 27 being given in her favour.

THE SUCCESSFUL COUNTRIES.

Salient details about the three latest comparts of seats on the Council of the League are as follow:—

GUATEMALA—Republic established on March 21st, 1847, after having formed part for twenty-six years of the Confederation of Central America. Area, 42,353 English square miles. Population, 2,004,900 in 1920. Capital of the Republic and seat of the Government, Guatemala City, which had 120,707 inhabitants in 1928.

NORWAY—A constitutional and hereditary monarchy. Area—125,086 English square miles. Population (estimated on January 1st, 1929)—2,810,592. Capital—Oslo, with a population of 258,483.

IRISH FREE STATE—A self-governing Dominion "in the community of nations known as the British Empire." Area—26,600 English square miles (exclusive of large rivers, lakes and tideways). Population in 1926—2,971,992.

Portugal, which secured fourth place, has been an independent State since the twelfth century, and until 1910 was a monarchy, has an area of 35,490 square miles and in 1920 possessed a population of 6,032,991.

INTERNATIONAL COURT.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
GENEVA, Wednesday.

The League Assembly elected Mr. Frank B. Kellogg, by 30 votes out of 47 valid votes, as successor to Mr. Charles Evans Hughes as Judge of the Permanent Court of International Justice.

There was some amusement at the fact that both M. Hymans, Belgian Foreign Minister, and M. Procope, Finnish Foreign Minister, who were to act as tellers, were absent from the sitting.

Lord Cecil took the place of the second teller, M. Motta being the other teller.

INQUIRY INTO BRIAND PLAN.

The League Assembly unanimously adopted the resolution to invite the European members of the League to pursue the inquiry already instituted into M. Briand's plan for a European Federation.

The plenary sittings of the Assembly of the League are now suspended for the next few days in order to enable the Committees to proceed with their work.

General Herizog left here this afternoon route to London to attend the Imperial Conference. He will break the journey at Paris, where he will stay a couple of days, thereafter visiting Brussels and Antwerp and proceeding to London on Sunday.

DILATORINESS IN COMMITTEE.

LORD CECIL'S PROTEST AND WARNING.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
GENEVA, Wednesday Afternoon.

A spirited protest was made by Lord Cecil against the dilatory procedure which marked the consideration of the draft Convention for financial assistance to States victims of aggression in the Third Committee this afternoon.

The Chairman, M. Politis, at the outset remarked that the Convention had been generally accepted by members of the League and had reached the stage when it could be opened for signature.

When the first article came up for discussion, however, the Committee started discussing the Finnish proposal to redraft the article entirely.

Lord Cecil protested that the Committee should concern itself with amendments, and said that, if the clauses were to be entirely re-drafted, the whole of the progress made last year would be thrown away, seriously endangering the success of the Convention.

Eventually the Committee agreed to Lord Cecil's proposal to adjourn the meeting until to-morrow to enable the delegates to submit amendments.

When the Fourth Committee of the League of Nations Assembly dealt with the League Budget to-day there was some discussion on the reorganisation of the League Secretariat.

A tendency of some of the members to adjourn the matter was combated by Dr. Dalton, who declared that the British Government was anxious that a decision should be taken by the present Committee and the question disposed of by the present Assembly.

Referring to the expenditure incurred by the installation of the new Assembly Hall, Dr. Dalton said that it was a great improvement on the old quarters, and that the money had been well spent.

DRUG SMUGGLERS FOILED.

SUITCASE FILLED WITH MORPHINE.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
NEW YORK, Wednesday.

An ingenious attempt to smuggle 20,000 dollars worth of morphine into the country from the liner, Europa, was foiled by the vigilance of officials of the Treasury Department on Monday last. A squad of watchers on the pier, co-operating with customs employes disguised as baggage stevedores, kept watch for an hour after the liner docked, and, as a result, saw a sailor carrying a heavy valise along the gangway and apparently looking about as though undecided where to place it. A customs official approached and offered to take charge of the bag and at the same moment the watchers heard the assistant baggage master on the pier order a stevedore to put the bag with the unclaimed baggage.

THE TELL-TALE LABEL.

Half an hour later the assistant baggage master returned, pasted a Customs label on the valise, and then hurried away. According to officials he walked to the barrier, waited for the guards to cancel the label and then proceeded to the baggage room. Here he was arrested, protesting his ignorance of the contents of the bag and declaring that he was only carrying out his ordinary duty.

The valise was identified as belonging to a person who took it aboard at Bremen and disembarked at Southampton. The sailor, who is believed to be innocent, said that a man told him to take the valise to another man who would meet him at the pier at New York.

ENGLAND "WORLD'S DUSTHEAP."

CAUSES OF DISEASE IN CATTLE

Speaking at the Chertsey Agricultural Association's Show at Fancourt, Chertsey, yesterday, Sir Edward Stern, the President, referring to the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease which had shorn the show of the cattle, sheep and pig classes, said that he was not surprised at foot-and-mouth disease, because England was the dumping-ground of the world. All sorts of live and dead animals were sent to it. The country, in fact, was the dust-heap of the world considering the rubbish sent there without there being any power to prevent it.

FREE STATE MINISTRY AND HOUSING.

SUBJECT CONSIDERED YESTERDAY.

FROM OUR POLITICAL CORRESPONDENT.

The Executive Council of the Irish Free State met at Government Buildings, Dublin, yesterday. President Cosgrave presided, and the other Ministers present were:—Mr. R. Mulcahy (Minister for Local Government and Public Health), Mr. FitzGerald-Kenney (Minister for Justice), Mr. Desmond Fitzgerald (Minister for Defence), and Mr. P. McGilligan (Minister for Industry and Commerce and External Affairs).

I understand that amongst the matters which occupied the attention of the Council were the urgent problem of housing in Dublin and the the other more important cities and towns in the Free State, and the question of speeding up the operation of the Gaeltacht Housing Act.

Mr. Mulcahy returned to Dublin on Saturday last from Holland, where he spent ten days in investigating housing conditions. He was accompanied by Mr. E. P. McCarron, Secretary of the Department of Local Government, and Mr. Hickey, Engineer. The result of their investigations probably will be reflected in the new and comprehensive Housing Bill which will be introduced in the Dail towards the end of November.

There has been no further development in connection with the Clondalkin paper industry. On Monday it was stated that a deputation would see the Minister yesterday morning. I understand, however, that no arrangements were made for receiving the deputation, and that no deputation had an audience of the Minister (Mr. McGilligan) yesterday.

TO MANUFACTURE IN ENGLAND.

AMERICAN TYRE COMPANY'S DECISION.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
AKRON, OHIO, Wednesday.

Mr. F. A. Seiberling, President of the Seiberling Rubber Company, announced today that the company is shortly to begin manufacturing tyres in England at the factory of the Avon India-Rubber Company, Ltd., Melksham, Wilts. Mr. Williams Wolfe, Vice-President of the Seiberling Co., will be in charge of operations in England until the undertaking is finally under way.

NATIVE PROBLEM IN EAST AFRICA.

POLICY OF HOME GOVERNMENT.

TRANSVAAL MINISTER'S CONDEMNATION.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
PRETORIA, Wednesday.

Outspoken criticism of the Imperial Government's policy in regard to the natives in East Africa, as outlined in a recent White Paper, was uttered by Mr. P. G. W. Grobler, the Minister for Public Lands, and leader of the Transvaal Nationalists, at the annual congress of the Nationalist Party here to-day.

Mr. Grobler said that the native policy laid down for one part of Africa must necessarily affect all other parts. "I do not wish to interfere with the affairs of our neighbours," he said, "but where a native policy is foreshadowed, which is in direct conflict with the conception of the Union—namely, the sovereignty of the white man, we also are affected, and it is, therefore, our duty to express our opinion clearly and unhesitatingly. The European population of the Union—the oldest and most influential European State in Africa—has developed a certain system of government, and we have the right to expect that this system will meet with the necessary amount of respect from others."

UNSUITABLE PRIVILEGES.

Mr. Grobler then dealt with the European settlement in Africa, which everywhere supported the principle of equality between black and white. "The Paris Conference in 1890," he said, "gave the native rights, privileges and political institutions which were most unsuited to the mind and the needs of the native."

"These things," declared Mr. Grobler, "have rapidly taken root, and must soon become a danger to our position. Unless we prepare ourselves against such a state of affairs, the white man and his civilisation will be unable to escape from calamitous results. We can only act defensively, but we also refuse positively passively to acquiesce in the mistaken step of forty years ago being repeated by a declaration that within any British territory on our continent the interests of the natives will have preference over those of Europeans."

EQUALITY OUT OF THE QUESTION.

After quoting from the White Paper referred to, Mr. Grobler said that South Africa as a Dominion of the British Commonwealth of Nations had a right to express a definite opinion of these affairs in all countries under British administration. In Africa, he declared, they had developed a formula in connection with relations between white and black after age-long contact with the two.

"We refuse," he said, "to consider equality of Europeans and natives as a solution of the native question. We are convinced that we shall find salvation in the segregation of black and white. We will not allow amateurs' work in a matter of such vital importance to us all. We deny that any European nation, England included, has the right to act anywhere in Africa in conflict with our ideals."

BENGAL JUTE TRADE COLLAPSE.

MENACE TO ECONOMIC POSITION.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
CALCUTTA, Wednesday.

Immense distress has been caused in Bengal by the fall in the price of jute, as a result of which the province is expected to lose income to the amount of about ten crores of rupees (£7,500,000) this year. A deputation is to wait on the Governor with the object of explaining the situation.

Appeals have been sent to the Finance Member of the Government of India by the Indian Chambers of Commerce, and also by the leader of the Ryots' (Agriculturists) Party in the Bengal Legislative Council, asking him to visit Calcutta in view of the serious position. The Chambers of Commerce suggest calling a conference of all the interests in the industry with a view to devising ways and means for improving the situation.

TWO LEAN YEARS AHEAD.

Mr. George Morgan, a member of the Legislative Council and Chairman of the Calcutta Jute Dealers' Association, in an interview with the Press Association Special Correspondent, said that it was estimated that about 2,000,000 bales would remain in the hands of producers and middlemen, and that these stocks would affect the crop of 1931-32.

It looked, he added, as if the low prices would prevail for another two years unless there was a spurt in the goods trade.

PRICES NEVER SO LOW.

Mr. G. D. Birla, interviewed, said that the present low price of jute had never been equalled in the last twenty years. The piece goods trade, particularly, felt the effect of the jute depression, the sales being extremely poor. Unless measures were taken to remedy the situation, he declared, it might cause irreparable harm to Bengal's economic structure.

Reports from the districts state that the cultivators are taking up other work in view of the very low price of jute and the absence of buyers.

THE DUBLIN CITY NOMINATIONS.

MANY CANDIDATES.

One hundred and one candidates were nominated yesterday for the 35 seats on the new Dublin City Council.

The election, which takes place on 30th inst., will be the first municipal election to be held in Dublin since 1925, when the Corporation was dissolved by the Government, and three Commissioners appointed in its room.

Of the 35 seats five will be filled by representatives of commerce in Dublin, and these candidates will be elected on a special register.

For the remaining thirty seats the Constitutional Party have nominated 16 candiates; the National Business Men's Association, 10; Labour, 24; Fianna Fail, 23, and the Independent candidates number about a dozen.

The voting for the thirty seats by electors on the general register will be under the system of proportional representation, but the voting for the five representatives of commerce will be through the post.

[A report of the nominations appears on Page 5.]

CANADIAN TARIFFS.

GENERAL APPROVAL OF CHANGES.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
OTTAWA, Wednesday.

The comment of the industrial community on the drastic tariff changes announced yesterday, giving enlarged protection for Canadian manufacturers in most of the key industries, is generally favourable.

Several manufacturers announce that the result will be an immediate stimulation of production on the assurance that the domestic market is to be preserved for them against outside competition. This applies particularly to several textile companies.

Stress is laid in the interviews on the fact that an assurance has been given to the Government that there will be no increase in prices to consumers.

CLEARING-UP IN GERMANY.

ELECTION FEVER DISAPPEARING.

RUMOURED COALITIONS.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
BERLIN, Wednesday.

With the election fever cooling off, the rank and file are content to leave politicians to solve their own problems and restore order to the confused political situation. The newspapers, on the other hand, are discussing various possible permutations of party coalitions.

One evening paper claims to know that a "big coalition from the Socialists to the People's Party" will arise out of the chaos, as Dr. Bruening is averse to any co-operation with the Hugenbergians and Hitlerites.

THE EXTREME RIGHT PARTIES.

There is also a persistent rumour that the two extreme Right Parties are already discussing a junction, in which case they would become the largest single party in the Reichstag, with 148 deputies. This would mean the end of Herr Loebe's Presidency, as the largest party is entitled to the Presidency of the Reichstag.

Dr. Scholz, of the People's Party, is also busy trying to get the small "Moderate" Parties and the State Party together for joint action, and it can be said that the clearing-up process is in full swing, though it will certainly be a fortnight before a clean-cut view is possible.

PRESIDENT SNUBBED.

NOT WANTED BY COBURG HITLERITES.

That President Hindenburg is not welcome in Coburg is the decision reached by the Municipality of that city, which is controlled by members of the National Socialist Party.

One of the members of the Corporation proposed to invite the President of the Reich, who is an honorary freeman of Coburg and is attending the Army manœuvres in Northern Bavaria, to visit the town at the end of the manœuvres. The Hitlerites opposed the proposal, however, and it had to be withdrawn, as there was no chance of its being adopted.

A HINDU PROPHETESS

SHOWS THE WAY IN GERMAN POLITICS.

Clairvoyance apparently is to be used to point to the way out of the present confused state of politics in Germany.

Madame Terfren Laila, a noted Hindu expert, who styles herself "Professor of Occult Sciences," and who boasts of having foretold the fate of Signor Mussolini, King Carol of Rumania, Captain Costes, the Atlantic flier, and of M. Briand, the French Foreign Minister, today accepted the invitation of a leading German statesman, whose name will be revealed after the séance, to hold a séance with the German leaders.

Madame Laila immediately started fasting, which she says is essential before falling into a trance.

GERMANY'S DICTATOR.

Without awaiting next week's séance, however, she prophesied that soon after the Reichstag is convened one of the members will die. Whoever steps into his place will become Dictator of Germany within two years.

He will tolerate a Parliament of three parties only, which will later be reduced to one or two parties. He will also oppose women's suffrage.

Madame Laila prophesied that there will be an economic recovery in the autumn, and that the solution of the unemployment problem in the spring will be followed by a Fascist rebellion which, however, will mean the end of the Fascists.

AN ENGLISH-SPANISH MARRIAGE.

Madame Laila further prophesies that Max Schmeling will be the world's heavyweight boxing champion three more times; that the Prince of Wales will marry a Spanish Princess next year, and that an English lord will ascend the Hungarian Throne.

Captain Koehl, says this prophetess, will succeed in two more world flights, and Dr. Eckener, in the course of a flight will discover a new land.

MR. GANDHI, TOO.

More startling still, Madame Laila prophesies that Mr. Gandhi will live to see India free, while in fifteen months' time there is to be a counter-revolution in Russia.

PARIS MORE HOPEFUL.

SOME PRESS COMMENTS.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
PARIS, Wednesday.

The atmosphere of the Paris Press is distinctly more hopeful since Dr. Curtius's speech and the extempore pronouncements of M. Briand and Mr. Henderson, although it is asked what authority can be attributed to a member of a minority Government.

It is suggested that the speech, which is described as the quietest that Germans have delivered in Geneva since 1926, may be designed as much for home as foreign consumption, preaching as it does prudence and moderation at a moment when these are badly needed in Germany.

Nevertheless, it is pointed out that, in spite of its conciliatory tone, the German attitude remains the same.

"Dr. Curtius declares German foreign policy is unchanged. Naturally, since Germany still wants the same thing," remarks one paper.

Herr Hitler is described as a psychological phenomenon, unimportant in itself, but important as a manifestation of a state of mind.

Dr. Curtius's remarks about the impossible situation in Germany until general disarmament is effected rankle, and there are many references to Mr. Henderson's championship of disarmament as having encouraged German hopes.

In general, however, public opinion is comforted by the balm which Geneva has poured on the hurt caused by the German elections.

"Statesmen's words are not gospel; but we need not underestimate the signs of the times," one paper hopefully concludes.

£100.000 LAWSUIT.

SOUTH AFRICAN BANK SUES LONDON FIRM.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
DURBAN, Wednesday.

An important lawsuit, in which the South African Reserve Bank are plaintiffs and the firm of Messrs. Samuel and Co., Ltd., of London, are defendants, will shortly be heard in the King's Bench division. It is understood that an amount exceeding £100,000 is at stake.

Mr. Patrick Duncan, C.M.G., President of the Special Court of Bechuanaland Protectorate, has been appointed as Commissioner to take evidence in Durban.

Mr. Innes H. Stranger, of the Inner and Middle Temple, who has been briefed by the Reserve Bank, is at present in South Africa, consulting the bank officials.

LATE NEWS.

BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH "THE TIMES."

CANADIAN TARIFFS.

THEIR OBJECT AND EFFECTS.

The Times to-day, in a leading article, says:—Mr. Bennett has lost no time in giving effect to his belief that unemployment can be cured in Canada by protecting the Canadian market against outside competition. It was on his policy of more effective protection that his party fought the last election, and were returned with a substantial majority over all other parties. Any opposition to the new tariff schedules in the Dominion Parliament will, therefore, have to be on points of detail. The principle on which they are based has already been approved by the country. The present measure is an emergency one, designed to provide an immediate remedy for the urgent problem of unemployment. It is thus in the same class as the recent revisions of the Australian tariff, though it is nothing like so drastic in its contemplated effect on imports, as, indeed, was not to be expected, since the crisis it is designed to meet is not comparable with that from which Australia is suffering.

The general revision of the tariff to which the Bennett Government is committed is a task too big to be approached or carried out in a hurry, and is to be postponed till next session. Before undertaking it the Canadian Prime Minister will, therefore, have the opportunity of a thorough discussion of the problems of Empire trade with the Governments of Great Britain and of the other Dominions, and he will be able, too, to get some guidance from watching the effect of the duties which have just been imposed, and which came into force yesterday. In Canada the changes made in the tariff will be judged by their effect on Canadian interests. The effect on British trade will naturally be only a secondary consideration. As Mr. Bennett emphasised throughout the election campaign, he and his party put Canada first. Not that they were unmindful of imperial interests, or were not anxious to co-operate in every way they could with Great Britain and with their sister Dominions, but they felt that their first duty, and the greatest service they could render the Empire, was to build up a prosperous and powerful Canada.

BRITISH TRADE.

Naturally in this country the new schedules will be scanned from a different angle, and the first question will be as to their effect on British trade, which has already been so hard hit by tariff increases in other parts of the world. No satisfactory reply to that question can be given until there has been a closer study of the new duties than has yet been possible. In their main features the changes made are a reply to the American tariff, one of the objects of which was to shut Canadian products out of the United States market. But the increased protection given the Canadian manufacturer is against his British, as well as against his American competitor, though, generally speaking, there is a tendency all through to raise the duties on imports from Great Britain less than those on imports from either the United States or the Continent of Europe.

A great concession has been made to the British cotton trade in the definition of goods qualified to enter under the British preferential duty. When the preference was first instituted it was applied to all goods of which 25 per cent. of the value was represented by British labour and (or) material. It was found that this definition gave the benefit of the preference to imports which were in reality more foreign than British in origin, and the percentage was consequently raised to fifty. The cotton manufacturers, whose raw material is practically all imported from abroad, complained that this was too high, and the Canadian Government has been convinced by the arguments they put forward, and has now reduced the percentage to 33⅓. This concession to Lancashire shows that the new Canadian Government, far from desiring to whittle away the existing preference to British trade, is anxious to apply it as fairly as possible.

REIGN OF TERROR IN SOVIET RUSSIA.

OGPU MURDER CHIEFS OF FIRE BRIGADE.

FROM "THE TIMES" CORRESPONDENT.
RIGA, Wednesday.

The execution by shooting of the fire brigade chiefs, Tujilkin, Tsikareff, and Tsvetoff, without trial, which was officially announced by the Ogpu Cheka yesterday, has made a marked impression even on Moscow. The Ogpu alleges that its victims encouraged incendiarism by neglecting precautions against fire, thus placing Soviet industrial enterprises in jeopardy. Nobody appears to believe that these non-political specialists strove to undermine the Five-Year Plan by firing Soviet enterprises, as has been stated. Although fires have become unusually numerous, they are partly due to the wilful acts of groups and single desperate workmen, and partly to accidents resulting from the carelessness of unexperienced new workmen who are now employed in the factories.

Reports are current in Moscow that the shooting of such specialists, sometimes with and sometimes without trial, is part of the Ogpu's task under the Five-Year Plan, and that the definite programme of terror requires a certain number of victims from various sections of the community, partly as scapegoats for failures and partly to maintain an atmosphere of fear among the discontented members of the public.

EMPIRE FREE TRADE.

MANUFACTURERS AND THE GOVERNMENT'S DUTY.

Presiding at a meeting of the Administrative Committee of the National Union of Manufacturers yesterday, Mr. George Terrell, the president, stated that for several years the union had unanimously passed a resolution at its annual meeting in favour of a protective policy against unfair foreign competition, but he was of opinion that the union should bring this motion up to date and adopt a resolution in favour of protection against unfair foreign competition and free trade in the British Empire.

The Committee decided to recommend to the Executive Council that the following resolution should be put to the general meeting of the union, to be held on November 4th, believing that its terms would receive the unanimous support of manufacturers in Great Britain:—

"That this meeting, representative of over two thousand British manufacturing firms, declares that all imports of produce and goods which cause unemployment and thereby endanger the birthright of British people to a livelihood in their own land are detrimental to the public welfare, and as a remedy they claim that such imports should be restricted by a considered Customs duty, or otherwise regulated.

"They further urge that it is the duty of His Majesty's Government to negotiate with the Dominions and dependencies of the British Empire regarding preferential trading relations with the aim of making the closest practicable approach to the ultimate ideal of free trade within the Empire."

HOW SHAMROCK V. LOST THIRD RACE.

DISABLED BY UNHAPPY ACCIDENT.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON'S DISAPPOINTMENT.

HIS LAST CHALLENGE FOR THE CUP.

AN unhappy accident yesterday caused Shamrock V. to lose the third race for the America's Cup, after she had made the most promising start of the series.

When five miles of the thirty-mile course had been sailed, and the yachts were racing on even terms, Shamrock's main halliard parted, her mainsail fell partly on deck and partly in the water, and, so far as she was concerned, the race was over.

Enterprise, however, completed the course, and so won the race.

Sir Thomas Lipton was bitterly disappointed. "This is my last challenge," he said. "It seems that Shamrock cannot win. No single man in England can build a million-dollar yacht alone, and without that, none can hope to lift the cup. Hereafter it will have to be syndicate against syndicate." Sir Thomas added that Shamrock V. will be ready to sail to-day.

Yesterday's accident to Shamrock V. was similar to that which befell the American defender, Resolute, in the race of 1920.

FROM THE PRESS ASSOCIATION'S SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.
NEWPORT, RHODE ISLAND, Wednesday.

"It looks as though we are going to have a smart day for a bit of a brush, and maybe my Shamrock will yet show what's in her. She is a better boat than she has shown herself to be here." These were the words of Sir Thomas Lipton this morning.

The weather for the third of the series of races between Shamrock V. and Enterprise—postponed from yesterday—was in striking contrast to that which had prevailed hitherto, and it brought out an immense crowd of excursion steamers. A lively twelve-knot breeze was blowing, with visibility extremely good, and it was generally agreed that the conditions could not be better. Both yachts were soon ready to slip their moorings and get away to the starting line for the race, which was to begin with a fifteen miles turn to windward over the Cup course and a run of fifteen miles back to the starting line.

Shortly before ten o'clock Commodore O'Kane estimated the velocity of the breeze to be about fifteen miles per hour.

When the yachts went to the starting line, Shamrock, which did not set any canvas, rolled and pitched in the heaving seas, and Enterprise, steadied by her mainsail, went much more smoothly. Shamrock was the first to reach the scene of the contest. She sent up her mainsail and staysail and then cruised about on the starting line. She did not seem comfortable, however, in the rough water, diving her bow into the seas, a fault which seemed certain to handicap her in the race. Enterprise reached the line with only her mainsail set.

The Race Committee hoisted the signals instructing the yachts to sail the first fifteen miles, west-south-west, almost directly into a moderate breeze. As both yachts jockeyed about on the line, Shamrock's bow was smothered with the spray, which came aboard and along her waterways. Enterprise, however, kept her nose up and seemed to have greater buoyancy forward, being apparently an easier ship in a sea-way.

THE START.

Both yachts came down on the line more than a minute before the starting signal sounded, and it appeared that one, or both, might be prematurely over and have to return. Both skippers, however, timed the signal at 11.40 a.m. precisely, and now the Shamrock's navigators had out-foxed Mr. Vanderbilt, the wizard at starts, and the challenger, for the first time in the series, found herself in the weather berth at the line and travelling as fast as the Enterprise.

It was a beautiful start, by far the best one that Shamrock had yet made, and the yachts were sailing neck to neck. After about two minutes Mr. Vanderbilt took the defender over to the port tack, apparently trying to shake off the challenger, but Shamrock followed her example at once. The Enterprise appeared to be slightly ahead, but Shamrock was in a commanding position. Both boats were carrying baby jib topsails and jib staysails. For some reason that was not quite clear Shamrock went over on the port tack at 11.52—twelve minutes after the start—and Enterprise, still to lee, clearly had gained on the challenger. The tables, however, were turned as compared with the last race; it was now the Enterprise's turn to play the rôle of mouse. By noon Enterprise had made up largely the disadvantage at the start. Mr. Vanderbilt worked her out to weather, although she was still two boat-lengths astern.

Twenty-five minutes after the start Enterprise had made up at least a hundred yards, and it seemed only a question of minutes before Mr. Vanderbilt would coax the defender past the challenger. Forty minutes from the start Enterprise had worked so far up windward that Shamrock could not possibly cross her bow, and it appeared to observers that Mr. Vanderbilt had virtually taken command of the situation. Enterprise, though pointing higher into the wind, seemed to be sailing the faster and to be riding the seas more easily than Shamrock.

THE ACCIDENT.

Shamrock's mainsail was ballooning, and eventually came down by the rim on her deck. Enterprise, on the port tack at the time, continued on in order to cover the full course and clinch the victory. So far as Shamrock was concerned the race was over, and after making up her mainsail she turned back for home. The big Bermudian sail came down while the yachts were sailing on even terms. It fell partly on the deck, where it enveloped the crew, and partly in the water.

The accident was similar to that which befell the Resolute, the American defender, in the first race of the 1920 series.

The official tug came over and stood by Shamrock as the rest of the big fleet went slowly ahead, following the now distant Enterprise, working at her ease towards the Narragansett shore.

SHATTERED HOPES.

Thus the third race of the series ended in disaster for the Shamrock, after approximately only five miles of the thirty-mile course had been sailed. The unhappy ending virtually destroyed Shamrock's last hope of making a fight for the trophy. This is all the more regrettable, as up to the time of the mishap she had put up her best performance of the series with every indication of giving the defender a real battle for victory.

Hopes, indeed, had run high through all the spectator fleet that at last Shamrock was going to show what she was capable of. She had all the best of the start; she was to windward of the Enterprise, and she had held on with grim determination to this advantage until shortly before the accident.

OUT OF THE RACE.

Shamrock now turned about and headed for home. Then her skipper apparently changed his mind, following a conference with Sir Thomas Lipton on the near-by Erin. With only her headsail she set again turned and pitched along slowly, but after a few minutes of this she was taken in tow by a small power boat. There was, of course, no possible chance of effecting repairs.

Meanwhile, with the Shamrock out of the race, the spectator fleet had lost all interest, and most of the craft headed back to port while the Enterprise sailed almost alone into the distance.

It was officially announced from the Committee tug that the Shamrock's main halliard had parted, and it was not known whether she would be able to race to-morrow. It was a bitter blow for Sir Thomas Lipton, but, as his friends reminded him, Shamrock IV. won the first race of the 1920 series—almost identical conditions. That race was sailed off Sandy Hook. Resolute's halliard parted, and Shamrock IV. sailed over the course. As was her privilege, and was declared the winner.

Shamrock V. was towed back to Newport, while the Enterprise continued smoothly towards the outer mark, with her escort reduced largely to the coast-guard patrol fleet. The big white cutter, with two headsails now set, plunged through the waves, which sent spray flying over her deck, and gave Mr. Vanderbilt a frequent drenching as he stood at the wheel.

At the time of the accident many critics thought that Enterprise had overcome most of Shamrock's initial advantages. It was admitted, however, that it was still a very close race, though Enterprise still, perhaps, has a slight advantage in the moderately choppy sea, just as she has shown her superiority in lighter weather.

ROUND THE MARK.

Meanwhile, the Enterprise proceeded on her way. She rounded the fifteen mile mark at 12h. 54m. 15s. She had ahead of her now a fifteen mile run back to the starting line, and she broke out her spinnaker on the port hand.

As Enterprise closed with the finishing line she took in her spinnaker, and came along under mainsail and head sails, and crossed the line at 3h. 33m. 05s., thus winning the third race.

A number of spectator craft had remained for the finish, but the cheering was a very feeble affair compared with that of previous occasions.

RAINSTORM IN DUBLIN

MANY HOUSES FLOODED.

Heavy rain fell in Dublin and district last night, and as a result serious flooding occurred in many localities. A heavy downpour commenced at six o'clock and lasted until the small hours of the morning. In certain areas many people spent the greater part of the night baling the water out of their houses.

A remarkable feature of the flooding was the rapidity with which the water collected on the thoroughfares. So marked was this at Clontarf that within an hour and a half of the commencement of the rain the entire roadway from Malahide road to the railway arch beyond Howth road corner was completely covered with water. At 8.30 tramcars coming from the city could not proceed further than Malahide road, and the "submarine"—a special car which the Tramways Company utilises on this route in bad weather—had to be brought into operation. At an early hour this morning there was still a long line of tramcars waiting for the floods to subside before attempting to continue their journey to the depôt.

From 10.50 until 12.30 a section of the Fire Brigade from Tara street was engaged pumping away the water which had collected to a considerable depth on King's avenue, a cul-de-sac off the Ballybough road, and on a lower level than it. The houses here are below the level of the roadway, and the water in some instances flooded the lower rooms to a depth of six inches. The residents endeavoured at the start to stem the flood with the aid of basins. Later, with the arrival of the firemen, the water was pumped into Nottingham street, where it got away through the road openings.

At Blackpitts there was also flooding, and here the Fire Brigade from Thomas street were pumping from 10.20 until 11 p.m.

THE PRINCE'S HOLIDAY

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
LE TOUQUET, Wednesday.

Playing in the qualifying round for the Prix de Touquet to-day, the Prince of Wales just failed of his object by one stroke. His handicap had been lowered as a result of his success in the Casino Prix yesterday, and this reduction cost him his chance. The Prince has decided to stay here till Friday.

THE SITUATION IN INDIA.

PRINCE'S TRIBUTE TO VICEROY.

UNFAIR CRITICISM ABROAD.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
BHOPAL, Wednesday.

Addressing the Legislative Council on the eve of his departure for England to attend the Round Table Conference, to which he is a delegate, the Nawab of Bhopal paid a tribute to the Viceroy, Lord Irwin, adding that, in order that the Viceroy might be able to establish the happiest relations between England and India, it was their duty to assist him to their utmost capacity.

This was all the more necessary in view of the fact that Lord Irwin must have been seriously handicapped by the unfair and unnecessarily bitter criticism of his policy by certain people abroad, who considered themselves better qualified to deal with India's problems than the man on the spot, who could be relied upon to understand the situation in all its bearings far better than his critics at a distance of several thousands of miles.

VIOLENCE CONDEMNED.

Turning to the activities of the Congress, the Nawab strongly deprecated the use of unconstitutional methods and condemned all resort to violence. Disrespect of law and authority and disregard of life and property must destroy, he said, the very basis of society.

In conclusion, the Nawab said that the Imperial Government and the Viceroy had offered India the hand of friendship. No Government could, on the eve of a free and fully representative Conference, have given pledges which would have rendered all discussion at the Conference futile, and might unduly have compromised or prejudiced the position of different vital interests of the country.

150 ARRESTS IN DELHI.

VOLUNTEERS' COLLEGE SEARCHED.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
DELHI, Wednesday.

Both the District Congress Committee and the Satyagraha Ashram (a seminary or college for the training of volunteers in the civil disobedience movement) at Delhi have been declared unlawful.

All the inmates of the Ashram, numbering about a hundred and fifty male volunteers, were arrested.

The police search of the premises of both organisations is continuing.

POLICE RAIDS IN BOMBAY.

PAPERS AND LEAFLETS SEIZED.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
BOMBAY, Wednesday.

The C.I.D. carried out simultaneous raids on nine places in the city to-day, including the offices of the Red Flag Union and the Young Workers' Union, and on the private residences of Miss Chatto Padhyaya, the headmistress of the Bombay girls' school, and Mrs. Nambiar, whose husband is at present in Berlin interesting himself in Indian affairs.

Both of the latter are sisters of Mrs. Naidu, who is at present in Yeroda Jail.

The police seized some papers and private correspondence and cyclostyled copies of leaflets and handbills at some of the places raided.

It is understood that the searches, which lasted four hours, were carried out in connection with unauthorised news sheets which had been published in the city in defiance of the Viceregal Ordinance regarding such publications.

ENGLISH COTTON BOYCOTT.

MOVEMENT WEAKENING.

News was received in Manchester by cable from Calcutta yesterday that the picketing of the Calcutta bazaars had ceased.

The information is understood to indicate that, while picketing of Lancashire piece goods still continues nominally throughout India, there is a weakening of the movement.

THE NORTH-WEST FRONTIER.

"ALL QUIET."

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
SIMLA, Wednesday.

According to the latest reports no military operations took place to-day, and all is reported quiet on the North-West Frontier.

In the Kurram the telegraph wires were cut on the night of the 14th-15th near Sadda, twenty miles south-east of Parachinar.

BRITISH COAL EXPORTS.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
OSLO, Wednesday.

The British Coal Delegation, headed by Mr. Shinwell, Minister for Mines, have arrived here from Stockholm, and were entertained to dinner at the British Legation this evening. Other guests included the Norwegian Minister for Commerce and representatives of the Norwegian Government, railways, and coal importers.

Meetings have been arranged for to-morrow with coal importers and representatives of the State railways.

DUBLIN ZOOLOGICAL SOCIETY.

CENTENARY SOUVENIR.

In 1830 the Royal Dublin Zoological Society was founded, and in the following year the Zoological Gardens in the Phœnix Park were opened to the public. To celebrate the centenary of its birth the Society has just issued a handsome centenary souvenir.

The publication contains a history of the Society and the Gardens, showing the many difficulties which had to be overcome by the Society in its early years. When founded, the Society was granted by the Duke of Northumberland, then Viceroy of Ireland, a portion of the Phœnix Park in which to establish its Gardens. From very small beginnings, it advanced steadily, and to-day it is the guardian of Gardens of which any city might be proud. At the end of 1830 the Society had only one animal—a wild boar. During the early months of 1831 some additions were made, but it was doubtful if the Gardens could have been opened that year had it not been for the large consignment of animals that came through Mr. N. A. Vigors, hon. secretary to the Zoological Society of London, who was also a member of the Managing Committee of the Dublin Society.

It was on September 1, 1831, that the Gardens were opened to the public, and since then, despite many difficulties, the Society has made satisfactory progress.

The souvenir contains many illustrations of the animals housed in the "Zoo," with a well-written description of the Gardens. It is published by the Trinity Press, Ltd., Dublin, at 1s.

GENEVA HOTEL ROBBERY.

"OF NO POLITICAL SIGNIFICANCE."

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
GENEVA, Wednesday.

Reuter's correspondent is authoritatively informed that not the slightest credence is attached in official circles to the sensational suggestion that the burglar at Mr. Noel Baker's room had any sinister political significance.

It is now admitted that the burglar secured a key ring belonging to Mr. Baker with a number of keys, including those of despatch boxes—a fact to which, for obvious reasons of public interest, it was thought undesirable to give publicity.

"A COMMON THIEF."

The police are now engaged in searching for the missing keys, and it is thought more than likely that they were thrown away by the burglar in his flight, quite possibly in the lake. So far they have not been recovered.

Mr. Noel Baker told Reuter's correspondent this morning that he was absolutely convinced that the affair was the work of a common thief.

"The man," he said, "apparently found the keys and tried to open cases containing personal belongings, presumably in the hope of securing jewels. A small box belonging to my wife was found opened in this way."

There seems to be every indication that the thief was out to secure money, or any other valuables, and there is absolutely no reason for connecting it with any political motive.

FOREIGN OFFICE STATEMENT.

It was admitted at the Foreign Office in London yesterday that news had been received from Geneva confirming the report that keys belonging to Mr. Noel Baker, M.P., Parliamentary Private Secretary to Mr. Arthur Henderson, had been stolen from his room.

Mr. Baker is one of the British delegates to the League of Nations Assembly meetings, and his room was entered by an armed man, whose presence was first noticed by Mrs. Baker, who was sitting in an adjoining room.

According to the Foreign Office, a brooch of little value and a few Swiss francs were also stolen from the pocket of Mr. Baker's trousers.

It has been stated in one quarter that the robbery was one to which political significance could be attached, and that as a result of it the locks of all Foreign Office despatch boxes would be changed forthwith.

The comment on that by the Foreign Office yesterday was:—"It being true that Mr. Baker lost his keys, the necessary arrangements will be made."

Apparently, however, the Foreign Office do not consider the robbery to be one of political significance.

MISSING STRADBALLY POSTMAN.

WIFE RECEIVES A LETTER.

An anonymous letter may cause a renewed investigation into the mysterious disappearance last Christmas Day of Laurence Griffin, the Stradbally, County Waterford, postman. Search for the body now is being directed to a new quarter. A few days ago Mrs. Griffin, wife of the missing postman, received a letter, signed, "Intimate Friend," requesting her to tell Inspector Hunt, of the Civic Guards at Kilmacthomas, to search the old orchard at Porkeen Wood, Woodhouse Demesne, in Stradbally.

The letter, which is not regarded as a hoax, was handed to the Civic Guards, who, however, so far have not taken any action. The orchard, mentioned in the letter, was searched by Mr. Cumming, a brother-in-law of the missing man, and some neighbours; but in the absence of suitable implements, and because of the heavy growth of briars, the search was perfunctory, and without result.

At KILMAINHAM District Court yesterday, when a woman was charged with drunkenness at Clondalkin, she said that she had never been in "Dundalkin" before. "I do not think I was drunk, your worship, just a bit gay." (Laughter.) She was fined 40s. and left the court reiterating the statment that she was "only a bit gay."

PHARMACEUTICAL EXAMINATIONS.

REPORT OF COUNCIL'S SEPTEMBER MEETING.

Mr. F. J. Fitzpatrick, President of the Pharmaceutical Society of Ireland, presided at the September meeting of the Council, held at 67 Lower Mount street.

The Registrar, Mr. James J. B. Kerr, M.P.S.I., submitted a letter from Dr. Patrick O'Connor, resigning his position as Lecturer in Botany, on his appointment as Curator of the Natural History Section of the National Museum, Dublin.

On the motion of Mr. D. J. Nugent, Vice-president of the Society, seconded by Dr. Michael Ryan, Hon. Treasurer, a resolution was passed expressing the Council's regret at the resignation of Dr. O'Connor, and tendering its heartiest congratulations to him on his appointment at the National Museum.

PRELIMINARY REGISTRATIONS.

The following applicants, who submitted certificates from other bodies, were admitted to preliminary registration:—Mr. D. G. O'Leary, Park View, Killarney; Mr. Bernard Taylor, 31 Lower Ormond Quay, Dublin; Mr. Solomon Lazarus Leslie Hesselberg, Dublin; Mr. Patrick Sheehan, Hanrahan's Pharmacy, Tallow, Co. Waterford; Mr. John Leahy, Albert Villa, O'Connell avenue, Limerick, and Mr. John Arthur Cotter, Main street, Listowel, Co. Kerry.

Reports from the House and Finance Committee, the Law Committee, and the School Committee were received and adopted. The School Committee recommended the Council to sanction the extension of the pharmacy class to three nights a week, Friday night to be reserved for the manufacture of galenicals and practical work, and that the fee be increased by a guinea, the remuneration of Mr. T. J. Smith, the Lecturer in Pharmacy, to be increased proportionately, and the scheme to be reconsidered at the end of the next school year.

The Council passed resolutions of condolence with the relatives of Mr. Frederick Chanel Hayes, B.A., M.P.S.I., Dundrum, Co. Dublin; Mr. John Black, M.P.S.I., Lurgan; Mr. Henry Francis Lennon Wilson, L.P.S.I., and Mr. Robert Courtney, R.D., whose deaths were reported.

EXAMINATION RESULTS.

The Registrar submitted reports from the Examiners, from which it appeared that there were thirty-nine candidates for the Licence Examination, of whom eight were successful; that seven candidates presented themselves for the Registered Druggist Examination, all of whom passed; that there were eighteen candidates for the Pharmaceutical Assistants' Examination, of whom thirteen passed; and that there were thirty-five candidates for the Preliminary Examination, of whom five passed. The Registrar said that the lack of knowledge of some of the candidates at the Preliminary Examination was simply appalling.

On the motion of Mr. Nugent, seconded by Dr. Ryan, Mr. P. A. Brady and Mr. J. J. Roche were appointed scrutineers of the ballot.

The Council resumed the consideration of the Government draft proposals for the Pharmacy Bill, which had also been discussed at a special meeting of the Council held on the 2nd inst., and on the motion of Sir Thomas Robinson, seconded by Mr. Patrick Brooke Kelly, it was decided that the draft proposals be referred to Mr. William Campbell Meeke, solicitor; Law Adviser to the Society, for his report.

LICENCES AND MEMBERSHIP.

The Pharmaceutical Licences of the following were directed to be signed and sealed:—Miss Shiela Byrne, Miss Eileen Brenan, Miss Winifred M. Colgan, Messrs. D. F. M'Carthy, M. Fortune, Gerald O'Neill, M. J. Leahy, and C. Dillane.

On the motion of the President, seconded by the Vice-President, the following were elected to membership:—Dr. E. Flannery, Ph.C., Tubbercurry, Co. Sligo; Miss H. M. Ryan, Ph.C., Prescription Pharmacy, Evergreen road, Cork; Mr. James Corr, Ph.C., Bolger's Medical Hall, Carlow; Mr. M. Leo, Ph.C., The Square, Tuam, Co. Galway; Mr. M. Smith, Ph.C., c.o. Mr. Fitzpatrick, 39 Stoneybatter, Dublin; Mr. A. W. Young, Ph.C., 22 Knox's street, Sligo. Mr. M. F. McNamara, R.D., Tuam, was elected to Associateship.

The following were nominated for membership:—Mr. J. Corcoran, Ph.C., Wilson's Medical Hall, Main street, Longford; Mr. C. Dillane, Ph.C., Boooske, Newcastle West, Co. Limerick; Mr. M. J. Mulreany, Ph.C., Cafe Cairo, Sligo; and Mr. J. T. H. Orr, Ph.C., 22 Knox's street, Sligo.

The Registrar reported the receipt of £10 10s. from Messrs. May, Roberts and Co., the third instalment of their subscription to the Benevolent Fund, and after a vote of thanks was passed to the donors, the President announced that owing to the great success of Mr. George C. Hewson's lecture at the last annual meeting of the Society, it had been arranged that Mr. Hewson should deliver an address at the coming annual meeting. Mr. Hewson has been engaged during the past summer on work on behalf of the Government, in the direction of developing the kelp industry, and he has also engaged in other interesting research work.

THE CORRIGAN CASE.

A SENTENCE OF PENAL SERVITUDE.

Michael Dennis Corrigan (45), who was found guilty at the Old Bailey on Tuesday of fraudulently converting to his own use money entrusted to him for the purchase of oil shares was sentenced to five years' penal servitude yesterday by Judge Gregory.

In the indictment he was charged with the conversion of a total sum of £18,000, but by direction of the judge the jury found him not guilty on a count relating to a sum of £4,000, which it was alleged that he got from a Mr. Cannon.

THE PRISONER'S HISTORY.

At the sitting of the Court yesterday, Detective Sergeant Winter, of Scotland Yard, told a long story of Corrigan's activities over a period of years.

During the past five years, said the sergeant, he has exploited his supposed concessions in Mexico and his connections with various oil companies to such a degree that he has obtained, to my knowledge, over £100,000 by his fraudulent representations from various persons, and has been responsible for the ruination financially of some of his victims.

There is no doubt that he is a most plausible swindler and adventurer of the worst type.

So far as this inquiry is concerned, I have traced over £15,000 worth of Bank of England notes, handed to Corrigan by the prosecutors at various times, and have traced the sources through which they have passed. The money has been traced to hotels, tailors, and other various emporia, and there is no doubt it has been spent absolutely on his own welfare.

INQUIRIES IN MEXICO.

The sergeant also stated that Corrigan was a married man with one child, but he deserted them in 1921.

Inquiries in Mexico about the alleged concessions there and Corrigan's statement that he was a general in the Mexican Army showed that the Mexican authorities had no knowledge of him or of any concessions granted to him, and that they regarded him as an imposter and a swindler.

Mr. Eddy, for the prisoner, addressed the Court in mitigation of punishment.

BAD AND CRUEL FRAUD.

Judge Gregory, in passing sentence of five years, said—"The jury have found you guilty of a series of bad and cruel frauds, involving sums amounting in the aggregate to tens of thousands of pounds.

"You had no mercy on your victims. One, a woman, left in comfortable circumstances, you have reduced to a state of penury. The other, a man who was in comparatively affluent circumstances, you have caused to become a bankrupt and lose his business, and he has been compelled to start his business life over again as a clerk in an insurance office. All this in order that you might live a luxurious life in some leading hotels in London and France."

BANK OF IRELAND CLERKSHIPS.

At the last Examination 11 Appointments were gained by Pupils of ROSSE COLLEGE, Stephen's Green, Dublin.—(Advt.)

NEWS FROM ALL IRELAND.

MARKETING OF FRUIT.

At the meeting of the KING'S COUNTY Agricultural Committee at Tullamore, the horticultural instructor (Mr. Clarke) stated that there was an abundance of fruit in the country this year, but the difficulty was to get a market for it. He suggested marketing on co-operative lines, and the meeting agreed. Some members thought that tariffs should be put on imported fruit, and one member stated that shopkeepers never stocked home-grown apples, or other fruit; they gave preference to imported apples.

DRINK AT THRESHINGS.

The Rev. J. J. McManus, C.C., addressing the congregation at the Church of the Assumption, TULLAMORE, referred to the evil of supplying drink at threshings. There was danger of accident, the danger of overindulgence, and then people could not afford the luxury. He asked the men engaged in the work to be manly enough to refuse drink if offered; he asked the farmers not to take it home and distribute it, and he asked the publicans not to sell it on such occasions.

TYRONE VOTERS' LISTS.

Judging by the huge bundles of objections to voters lodged in the office of the Clerk of the Crown and Peace, OMAGH, by the various political agents in County Tyrone, the forthcoming revision of the voters' lists will be strenuously fought, and is certain to impose a heavy duty on the Registration Officer and his deputies. In Omagh Union the Unionists have lodged over 450 objections, while the Nationalist agent, Mr. F. J. Nugent, lodged 1,600 to voters in Mid, West, and portion of South Tyrone.

INFANTICIDE CHARGE.

At KILMAINHAM District Court yesterday, before District Justice Reddin, a young woman, Christina Russell, of St. Margaret's, County Dublin, was charged by Superintendent Hughes with the murder of her child at Kilreesk Bridge, St. Margaret's. Superintendent Hughes said that the original charge against the accused woman was of concealment of birth, but subsequently the other charge was made. When charged she said: "I did not kill him." Justice Reddin, having heard the evidence, refused informations on the charge of concealment of birth, and returned the accused woman for trial on the charge of infanticide.

FOREIGN EGGS.

At the meeting of the LIMERICK County Agricultural Committee, Mr. J. Quaide, Chairman, presiding, the Secretary stated that the resolution adopted by the Committee to have a tariff placed on the importation of agricultural produce had been adopted by the different Boards throughout the country. Mr. Madden, County Councillor, said that the Minister for Agriculture had made a speech recently and denied that there was any importation of foreign eggs, but it was clearly proved at the meeting of the Irish Tourist Association that they were being used in some hotels and restaurants in Dublin. Mr. O'Sullivan said that the only cure for the complaint was total prohibition. A resolution from the County Waterford Agricultural Committee was adopted calling for a reduction in the cattle freights.

'BUS DRIVERS FINED.

District Justice Beattie, at LONGWOOD (County Meath) District Sessions, fined Ben Farrer, Chapelizod, driver of a van, and William Lawlor, St. Edna's, Park Row, Marino, Dublin, parcels express van driver, £5 each, for driving their motor vehicles at Possextown, near Enfield, on July 4th last, in a reckless and dangerous manner. Sergeant Daly, Enfield, said that he was in the barrack when the buses rushed by, travelling at between 35 and 40 miles per hour. He rang up Kilcock Station and had the men stopped there. Farrer said that he was not racing; his speed was 20 miles, and there was no traffic on the road and no danger. Lawlor said that he had nine years' experience, and was not racing; his speed was 20 miles. The Justice said that he was satisfied they were racing. The defendants were given three months to pay.

BROTHER AND SISTER IN TROUBLE.

At DROGHEDA District Court yesterday, John Kenny and Alice Kenny, brother and sister, aged seven and nine years, of North road, Drogheda, were charged with stealing a box of snuff, the property of Madam Le Worthy, Shop street, Drogheda. Three women—Anne Byrne, Margaret Finn, and Bridget Woods—were charged with receiving the snuff, knowing it to have been stolen. Sergeant Harrington gave evidence of interrogating the two children. The boy said that he and his sister went to Madam Le Worthy's, and they saw her reading. She turned her back, and he put his hand behind the door and took a box of snuff. Mrs. Woods denied that the children were near her place at all, and informations were refused against her. Justice Goff said that he was not satisfied with the story of the two adult defendants remaining in the case. In such a case the receiver was much worse than the thief. He directed the two women to pay the value of the snuff between them, and dismissed the charges against them. The two children were further charged with stealing a pair of boots, value 7s. 11d., the property of Miss Bridget Hand, Shop street, and after evidence had been given, the Justice said that he would adjourn the cases against the children to the next court to see how he would deal with them.

THE PAPAL NUNCIO'S TOUR.

CLARE'S WELCOME.

During a six days' tour of the Diocese of Killaloe, Most Rev. Dr. Paschal Robinson, Papal Nuncio, set his foot on the soil of nearly every parish in the Diocese. Colleges, schools, and convents were visited, and, although in obedience to the wishes of Dr. Robinson no public receptions were arranged, thousands of people greeted him everywhere he went.

He was received at Killaloe by the Very Rev. Canon Clancy, P.P., V.F., and visited the local Convent of Mercy. At Kilrush he was received by Dean McInerney, P.P., V.G., and after imparting his blessing to a great concourse of people, he visited Kilkee, where he was received by the Rev. Father Breen, P.P.

Addressing a large congregation in the local church, Most Rev. Dr. Fogarty said that it was the first time a Papal Nuncio had come to Corca Laigcin, and paid such a high honour to Kilkee.

When the Nuncio visited the Christian Brothers' School at Ennis he drove up to the residence between two lines of cheering boys.

The members of the Clare Co. Council, who were introduced to Dr. Robinson during his visit to Ennis, were Messrs. Sean O'Grady, P. O'Loughlin, E. F. Kerin, T. Hannon, Jas. Shannon, J. MacNamara, H. J. Hunt, Patrick MacMahon, Michael Hannon, Michael MacMahon, Thomas McGrath, T. Reidy, M. J. Carey (Sec.), and J. J. Daly (solicitor).

The Nuncio returned to Dublin yesterday.

HYDE PARK ACCIDENT.

VERDICT AT INQUEST ON MR. P. L. FAULKNER.

The death of Mr. Percival Leo Faulkner (47), who was knocked down by a motor car at the Brook street crossing, in Hyde Park, London, was inquired into by the Deputy Westminster Coroner (Dr. Bentley Purchase) yesterday. Mr. Faulkner lived at Stewards, the Curragh, Kildare. He was identified by his mother-in-law, Mrs. Agnes Cunliffe, of Radlett, Herts, who stated that Mr. Faulkner, who was staying in London, was at one time a superintendent of the Indian Police.

A description of the accident was given by John William Chase, a railway clerk, of Great College street, Camden Town. He said that between 9 and 9.15 on Friday last Mr. Faulkner crossed the east carriage road in Hyde Park to a refuge, and bore to the right in the second half of the road, with the traffic coming behind him. He looked left and right, and then seemed to meditate for a second or two, said Chase. The driver of the motor car applied his brakes and pulled up as quickly as possible. He did his utmost, but the man was struck by the car.

Dr. Charles Bailey said that Mr. Faulkner died in St. George's Hospital on Sunday morning from injuries to his head.

Robert G. Rickards, a motor salesman, of Spring street, W., the driver of the car, said that his speed at the time was twenty or twenty-five miles an hour. He sounded his horn when he first saw Mr. Faulkner, thirty feet away. Mr. Faulkner hesitated and made a hurried movement, so he swerved to the right and endeavoured to miss him, but the near side head lamp struck him. The car was pulled up in two feet.

The jury returned a verdict of "accidental death," and exonerated Rickards from blame.

GOSSIP FROM THE COURSE

JEAN GORDON'S HEAD.

POT-POURRI GAINS AN EASY VICTORY.

GOOD RECORD OF DISARMAMENT.

FROM OUR TRAVELLING CORRESPONDENT.
AYR, Wednesday Night.

While Ireland was celebrating its St. Leger, Scotland was staging its Derby on the Craigie course here, the event being worth exactly half that of the Curragh event. Even if the horses it attracted were only in the second rank of the three-year-olds, there was a really good finish, in which Jean Gordon, a filly by Ellangowan, trained by Walter Griggs for the Yorkshire owner, Mr. Armitage, beat the favourite, Lord Derby's Knight of Lorn, by a head, with the Malton-trained Achtoi filly, Dancing Toy, a length and a half away third, and the others well down the course.

The first and second were ridden in totally dissimilar fashion; for whereas Sirett, on Jean Gordon, pulled the filly back last on settling down, Weston, on the favourite, dashed to the front. There was a moment, when they had gone three furlongs, when Sylvan Ash went on with a slight lead, but Knight of Lorn soon regained it, and he led up the straight.

About two furlongs from home Dancing Toy came up to him, as did Jean Gordon. Going wonderfully well on the outside, Jean Gordon took a slight lead, but Knight of Lorn responded splendidly to his jockey's calls and came again. He could not quite sustain it, however, and the filly beat him by a very narrow margin.

GOOD RIDING.

Sirett had a very long patch of ill-luck until he rode a winner at Doncaster, but he cannot be given too much praise for the judicious way in which he rode Jean Gordon here. She is a big, ragged-hipped filly, but a good deal was thought of her early in the season. It is only now, however, that she is beginning to find her form.

The racing, on the whole, was hardly up to the standard of the Western meeting, and fields were smaller than usual. The West of Scotland Foal Plate, which is worth 600 sovs., is an event that often cuts up badly, and to-day was no exception to the rule. There were only three runners, and Lord Derby's Pot-Pourri won it easily from Park Air and Hurstmonceux. Weston lay last on the daughter of Rose Prince, and came to win the race when he wanted.

The other two-year-old race, the Craigengillan Plate, was a much more interesting event. Here Mr. Herbert Clayton's Disarmament, a son of Beresford and Shimmer, showed himself to be a very smart colt, indeed; for he struck off slowly and Weston had to try twice for an opening. Eventually he found one on the rail, and then he dashed past Lady Aurora and Seaton Ross, and beat them in a canter by two lengths and four lengths. Seaton Ross had run well at Doncaster, and Captain Harry Whitworth's Winalot colt was as good a favourite as Disarmament, but he did not see the way the latter went.

Disarmament has now run seven times this season; has won three times, and been second three times, losing the New Stakes at Ascot to Lightning Star, and the Richmond Stakes at Goodwood to Four Course. He must be the best two-year-old trained in the North of England.

ANOTHER WIN FOR RICHARDS.

Gordon Richards, who is having a great week, delighted the crowd by winning the first race on Lord Glanely's Quivil, who beat old Cynos by three lengths. This made Richards's sixth winner of the week, and he is rapidly closing the gap that separated him and Fox at the end of last week.

Richards was much expected to win the Auchincruive Stakes on Bright Beacon, but after he had taken the lead in the straight the horse died away in his hands, and was relegated to fourth place. In a good finish, Jack Wood, whom Armstrong senior trains at Turgill, beat Culloden and Touareg.

I doubt if any victory of the day gave the Scottish crowd such pleasure as that of Mr. John Johnstone, on his own mare Spring Blossom, who, in the Craigie Plate, beat Mr. Boyd on Argos Lad and Mr. Cottrill on Nuxford by two lengths and a head. Mr. Johnstone, who lifes in adjacent Dumfriesshire, where his small stable is composed of jumpers, is one of our jumping law-givers, for he is a Steward of the National Hunt Committee.

UNDIMINISHED ARDOUR.

Many years ago when he was engaged in big business in the East he used to keep a stable of horses and ride them himself. Now that he is well in the fifties his ardour is undiminished, and now and then he has a cut over a country, sitting well up in the saddle. He rode a very strong finish, which reminded me of nothing so much as one of the old prints. Spring Blossom is a rather remarkable mare for a three-year-old. She was covered and slipped a foal. This did not stop her from winning a hurdle race soon after and within very few months. She came to Cheltenham last year, and won the National Hunt Juvenile Steeplechase, that always interesting race.

SELECTIONS.

The Ayrshire Handicap is to be decided tomorrow, and will attract a good field. Culzean, second in the Lincolnshire Handicap, is a locally-trained horse, who is fancied. It seems to me that a far better chance is that of Lord Derby's SARGASSO, a very much improved Phalaris colt, who has won his last three races.

The Arran Nursery may be won by ITSAGIFT, and in the Kyle Stakes LIVID may give Richards another winning ride.

At Yarmouth CHELMARSH may win the Durham Handicap, and the Two-Year-Old Plate may be won by KNIGHT'S ORB.

Irish Jockey's Licence Withdrawn.

At the Curragh yesterday, the Stewards of the Turf Club inquired into the riding of Philip's Fancy by T. Burns in the Kildare Plate at the Curragh on Tuesday, and not being satisfied with his explanation withdrew his riding licence.

The Running of Markington.

The Stewards of the Turf Club at the Curragh yesterday inquired into the apparent discrepancy of the running of Markington at the Phœnix Park and Limerick Junction meetings. Having heard the evidence of the Phœnix Park Stewards they accepted the explanation of the owner and trainer.

SOL DE TERRE WINS IRISH ST. LEGER.

HEATH DOUBLE AT CURRAGH.

FLASHING DAWN'S BIG EFFORT.

CARNELIAN SCORES.

The Irish St. Leger, the chief race at the Curragh yesterday, was won by Mrs. C. L. Mackean's Sol de Terre in easy style from the English-trained Galhampton and Irish Times. There was an increased attendance to witness the big race, and the success of the Irish-trained horse in the last classic of the season was much appreciated. Mrs. Mackean may well be described as a lucky lady owner; for as well as winning this valuable prize she also won the Anglesey Stakes on the opening day of the meeting with Soliped. She also owned Salisbury, the winner of the Irish Two Thousand Guineas last year.

COLONEL A. J. BLAKE.

There was distinct merit in the achievement of Sol de Terre; for Galhampton, his English challenger, had won the Breeders' St. Leger at Derby, and another runner, St. Breda, had very useful long distance form in England. It was the last-named who made the running, and when her bolt was shot just at the turn into the straight, Galhampton strode along as a likely winner. Wing had been nursing Sol de Terre for a final effort all the time, and when he did rouse the son of Soldennis the question was settled in very quick style. Sol de Terre strode away from the English-trained horse and won in good style, and Irish Times ran on gamely to finish only a length and a half behind the second. Lord Portman, the owner of Galhampton, was present to see his horse run.

ADO SCORES EASY WIN.

Mr. Norman Sikes has lately come very much into the limelight as a trainer, and he followed up his recent successes by winning the Harehill Plate with Suzoro, a daughter of Roi Hero. There were nine runners for the race, and many of them were better fancied than Mr. J. Johnston Cooney's filly. She was in front from flag fall, and when tackled by Loveletter and Bachelor's Defence close home, pulled out a determined final effort to win in comfortable style.

Rascal Monk, who was attacked with the coughing epidemic so prevalent in the racing stables at present, was not a runner for the Experts' Stakes, and in his absence the race was a virtual walk-over for the Heath trained Ado, the property of Mr. C. L. Mackean, Colonel Blake thus saddling two winners.

Count McCormack's colours were carried successfully by Mignonne in the Turf Club Cup. The daughter of Bachelor's Double was set to concede 2st. 5lb. to the four two-year-olds who formed the only opposition, and she did so in very convincing style.

ATHNOWEN'S VICTORY.

A very interesting race was the Autumn Plate, for which the much-improved Flashing Dawn was made favourite. Mr. James Donnelly's mare put up a very gallant fight under her big impost of 9st. 9lb., but in a fine finish was beaten by Athnowen, to whom she was conceding 23lb. Athlone Girl, the mount of M. Beary, finished third, and was running on strongly at the finish.

Luck Gift, the winner of the Baldoyle Foal Plate, was a strong favourite for the Maddenstown Plate, but despite all the energy which Joe Canty put into his riding, she failed by half a length to cope with Cornelian, who was purchased at the Ballsbridge Sale as a yearling for 300 guineas. The race was over the testing seven furlongs course, and the winner stuck it out gamely in the soft going. Details:—

SPECIAL SELECTIONS FOR TO-DAY.

Daily Sketch:—Double—Sargasso and St. Leger.
Daily Mirror:—Double — Itsagift and Livid.

YARMOUTH.

A CHANCE FOR CHELMARSH.

The principal race at Yarmouth to-day is the Durham Handicap. Poor Man would probably win if he revealed his best form, and he has been going well in home gallops. He does not appear, however, to put it all in on the racecourse. Thus I have a preference for the chances of Chelmarsh and Cap-a-Pie, and shall select the first-named, who is well fancied.

The best in the Gorleston Nursery looks to be Multorb, Landgirl filly and Avonford. I like Landgirl filly best.

Selling Nursery—Miss Chaucer filly.
Gorleston Maiden—Landgirl filly.
Yare Selling—Lemin.
Durham Handicap—Chelmarsh.
Two-Year-Old Plate—Panache gelding.
Sandringham Plate—Cabman.

POLO.

AMERICAN OPEN TOURNAMENT.

NEW YORK, Wednesday.

Captain C. T. I. Roark, field captain of the unsuccessful British Polo team, in the Westchester Cup matches scored the winning goal for the Hurricanes against Roslyn after five and a half minutes extra play at the Meadowbrook Ground yesterday, thus enabling them to enter the semi-final of the American Open Polo Tournament. The final score was 10 goals to 9.

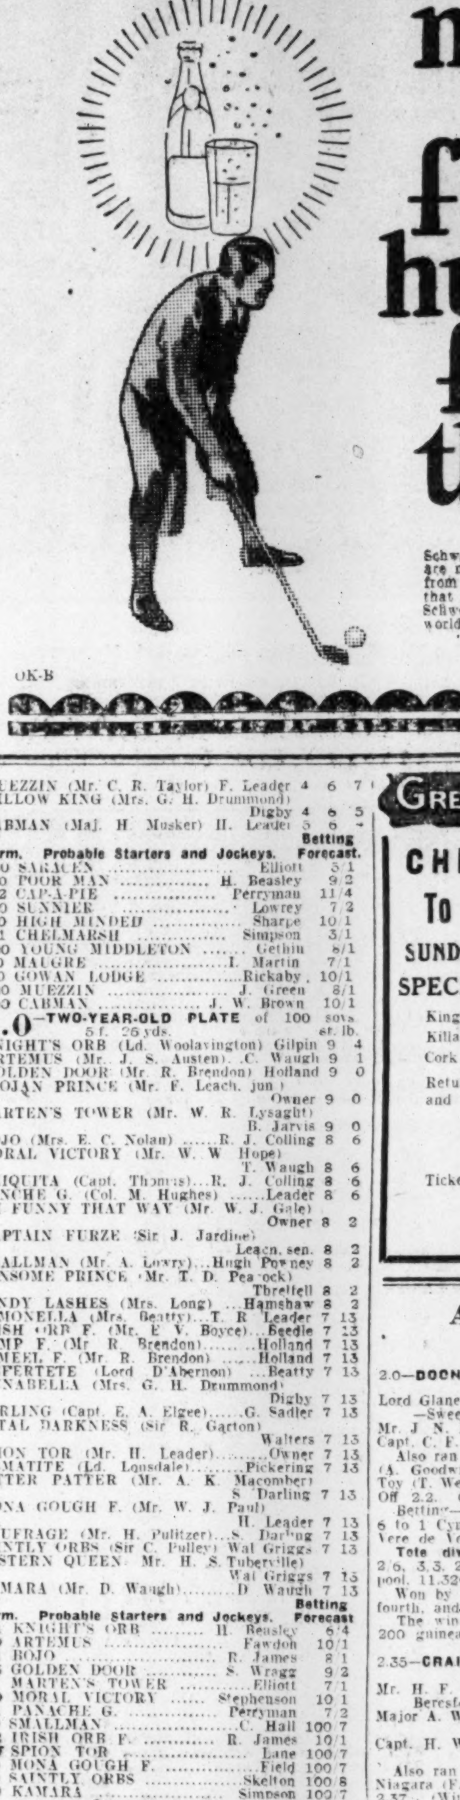

BILLIARDS.

LINDRUM V. FALKINER.

Lindrum had little or no recourse to the close cannon in yesterday afternoon's session of his game at Thurston's, with Falkiner. Indeed, the Australian showed a variety of billiards, which was much admired, and a feature of his operations, especially in his run from 328 unfinished to 489 (full) was his inclination to be venturesome.

Lindrum had the better of the exchanges, with an aggregate of 876 for an average of 63, against 451 and 35 by Falkiner. He had breaks of 489 (full) and 268 before Falkiner had 283, and before the end Lindrum added 218. Interval score:—Falkiner (to play), 9,721; Lindrum, 5,966.

In the evening session Lindrum scored 1,127 against Falkiner's 500. The early play went all in favour of Lindrum, who made 217 and 408, the latter break including runs of 50 and 101 cannons. Falkiner, in the meanwhile, had nothing better than 62, 43, 49, and 44; but afterwards he contributed 63, 143, and 23 (unfinished). Closing scores:—Falkiner (rec. 8,000) (in play), 10,221; Lindrum, 7,093.

AYR TO-DAY: PROBABLE STARTERS AND BETTING.

SARGASSO FOR THE CHIEF EVENT.

LEG PULLER FANCIED.

The Ayrshire Handicap stands out as the feature of the card at Ayr to-day. Captain Hogg has his horses in such great form that Grand Prince is sure to command plenty of attention in the market, but I expect the winner to come from one of the top weights. Sargasso has been specially kept for the race. He has three successive wins to his credit, and although he only got home at York after a great finish he was meeting good-class handicappers. He is very much fancied, indeed. Through Cap-a-Pie, who was just beaten by Break of Day at Haydock Park, Butters has a line to the last-named, and I consider more danger is threatened to Sargasso by Larking, if the latter runs so soon after Edinburgh. Larking ran quite well in the Liverpool Cup, as the betting indicated he was expected to do. He was trying to give Western Flier a lot of weight when second at Edinburgh on Monday. The locally-trained Culzean is likely to go close, but my choice must be Sargasso.

General O'Malley appears to be the best bet in the Cuninghame Selling Handicap. He was weighted for the race previous to his second in a big field at Doncaster, otherwise I think the handicapper would have assessed him at a few pounds more.

Leg Puller missed a race at Ripon last Saturday with a special view to the Montgomerie Selling Nursery, and he appears to me to be the probable winner of the race.

There will be only a small field for the Arran Nursery, but possibly some keen betting all the same. The pick seems to be Miss Jackie and Itsagift, and I shall rely upon the latter to bring off a double for Leg Puller's stable. Her task is not so difficult as at Doncaster, when beaten in the Princess Mary Stakes.

LANSDOWNE R.F.C.

Lansdowne held a practice at headquarters yesterday. Among those of last year's Cup team who were out were: F. Conroy, J. McEnery, J. C. Jones, R. D. Lambert, and J. McKeaney. All of last season's 1st XV. are, however, available, including Morgan Crowe, who was injured in the Hospitals' Cup final late last season.

The following are the teams which played two brisk "thirties" yesterday:—

A Team—Oakes, A. E. Del, B. Daly, V. H. Lambert, S. Fox, G. D. Burney, J. C. Jones, A. Higgins, J. McKeaney, Hanlon, J. G. Robertson, J. Maguire, F. Conroy.

B Team—D. P. Moran, W. F. Powell, Browne, Dwyer, S. Fox, Barry, A. E. Kertiage, W. Tunney, J. O'Leary, W. F. Power, M. E. Bardon, Robinson, K. Barrett, T. Barrett, A. H. Whiteside.

DUBLIN UNIVERSITY R.F.C.

Dublin University held a practice match yesterday in the College Park, when Whites and Colours played a sharp two "thirties." The form displayed was quite good, and it is evident that Trinity are going to have a very useful side this season.

Yesterday's display would suggest that N. Tyndall and J. E. MacNeice will be try-getters during the season, and it is more than likely that H. R. Davies will get his place at centre. T. B. Hassin showed fine form at half, and he will, in all probability, partner J. D. Stokes at half-back. The forwards showed useful form on both sides, and probables for the first team are Jackson, Tighe, Carey, Graham and Keays.

The teams selected were:—

Whites—A. H. Rucker; — Comisky, — Parke, M. Dee, M. Hogan; S. Price, G. F. Harris; H. Michael, F. C. Jackson, H. Wiebe, D. L. Graham, Lieut. J. S. Pike, P. M. Carey, T. H. J. Anderson.

Colours—P. J. Mullaney; S. F. MacNeice, H. R. Davies, M. Comisky, N. Tyndall; T. B. Hassin, J. W. Stokes; M. Anderson, W. J. Hale, G. C. V. O'Driscoll, H. W. Stephenson, R. C. Sutton, G. F. Keays, R. L. Stuart, D. J. Gargan.

CRICKET.

LANCASHIRE'S FIRST DEFEAT.

REST TOO STRONG FOR CHAMPIONS.

TEN WICKETS WIN.

The cricket season came to a finish at the Oval yesterday, when the Rest of England claimed an easy victory over the champion county by ten wickets. Thus the only side that went through the County Championship without suffering defeat met with a reverse in their final engagement.

Lancashire were in a bad position when the game was resumed, as they needed 131 runs to avoid an innings defeat. Still, they had all their wickets in hand, but they departed from the cautious methods which enabled them to secure several precious points during the summer, and, though the bright batting, especially that of Watson, Iddon, and Booth, proved enjoyable to the small crowd present, it helped to hasten the end, for more than one player threw his wicket away in reckless fashion, while four batsmen were caught off lofty hits.

Heavy dew, following Tuesday's rain, made the pitch slow and responsive to spin bowling. The first two wickets, however, fell to Tate and Nichols, the fast bowlers, for 30 runs, after which Watson and Iddon put on 67 in 40 minutes. Hitting well all round the wicket, Watson scored his 55, including 4 fours, in 70 minutes, while Iddon drove finely during a stay of three-quarters of an hour. Half the side were out for 121, but Eckersley, exercising proper care, defended cleverly, and, though he lost Sibbles at 134, he had the satisfaction of clearing off the arrears with powerful straight drives. At this stage Booth, hitting a 6 and 2 fours, rendered his captain admirable assistance by getting 34 out of 52, put on for the seventh partnership, in half an hour. The last three wickets offered such poor resistance that they fell in a quarter of an hour for four runs, Eckersley carrying his bat.

Set to get a modest 43 to win, the Rest, thanks to Ames and Tate, hit off the runs in 15 minutes. Score:—

FINANCIAL NEWS AND NOTES

NOTES FOR INVESTORS

A SLACK TIME.

FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.
59 FLEET STREET, LONDON, Wednesday.

Both in the money market and the Stock Exchange things are unusually quiet at present. In the former case this condition is a reflection of poor trade; for this means a small quantity of bills offering for discount and plentiful supplies of credit, with the result that the brokers are quite unable to bring about an advance in rates to a level nearer the official quotation and a level which appears to be called for by the unfavourable tendency of the principal foreign exchanges. Cheap money is usually favourable to Stock Exchange business. It means an increase in the investment demand, and it facilitates operations of a more speculative character. Undoubtedly, investment buying is proceeding, though the extent of the movement, perhaps, is not indicated by price movements. British Government securities are well maintained, and almost every day witnesses a marking up of prices of English Corporation Stocks, while brokers report a steady demand for any other sound securities yielding a little over 5 per cent. It is even said that Second Debentures of Brewery companies have been bought in order to obtain this return.

Future Prospects.

As there is little prospect of an early improvement in trade, money is likely to continue cheap for some time to come, and the investment demand will go on, though it must be admitted that the current yield on the safest stocks is rather low, having regard to the faint prospect of a reduction in taxation and the possibility of political developments at home in the near future. But surplus capital must be employed somehow, and for the present it is mainly going into high-class stocks. The aspect of things may change soon, if we get greater activity in the flotation of new loans, and this development should be witnessed before very long.

The German Elections.

Some concern is evident in the city in connection with the figures announced of the general election in Germany. It is not expected that the Extremists will obtain power to carry through a policy which would be detrimental to the interests of the country and its foreign creditors, but there are possibilities in the situation, and the striking success achieved by the Facists has had a weakening effect upon the Continental bourses, including Berlin itself, while it has also influenced sentiment on this side. The German 5½ per cent. International Loan, issued in London at 90 in June last, has fallen to about 83½, at which the yield, without allowing for redemption, is 6⅝ per cent. It is to be expected that Germany will honour its obligations, but the investing public which refused to subscribe for this particular issue at 90 is not likely to buy now that the quotation is at a discount of 6½ per cent. The drop in the price may also create a prejudice against Foreign Government Bonds generally, though there is no reason why this should be so.

Industrial Shares.

Difficulty is experienced in maintaining the recent considerable improvement in prices of Industrial shares. New York is unwilling or unable to prevent international securities from giving way, and the public here shows no disposition to support other Industrials, even at the considerably lower level now ruling compared with that current about a year ago. The professionals appear to have covered their commitments, and they only open fresh ones for very short periods, with the result that business is extremely quiet, and both brokers and jobbers are complaining. It is impossible to say how long this unsatisfactory state of affairs will last, but evidently the feeling is not very sanguine that it will soon be replaced by more favourable conditions. Meanwhile, holders of Ordinary shares in sound undertakings should not be frightened into selling by the prevalent dulness. Whether they should make fresh purchases is another matter, though if judgment is exercised there is no reason why they should keep out of the market. Shares suitable for the more cautious investor are British-American and Imperial Tobacco, Courtaulds, Associated Portland Cement, Vickers, Staveley Coal and Iron, P. and O. Deferred, Furness Withy and Guinness. Little harm could come from buying any of these.

Electricity Shares.

The future is likely to see more activity in the market for Electric Light and Power shares. Dealers report a fair inquiry for them at current prices, and the demand is likely to continue. Owing to the operations of the Central Electricity Board a big reduction in production costs is a likelihood of the future, and, other things being equal, this should mean an increase in dividends. Among the more attractive shares are Lancashire Electric Ordinary, which, on the basis of the last dividend, give a yield of 5¾ per cent. These shares have probably been depressed by the unsatisfactory conditions in Lancashire trade, but profits have steadily increased in recent years, and there is reason to believe that they will further expand in the future. Other similar shares afford a much smaller return, so that unless the latter are over-valued there would appear to be good scope for capital appreciation in Lancashire Electric Ordinary.

Activity of Share Pushers.

While members of the Stock Exchange are complaining of the want of business instances crop up almost every day of the activities of outsiders who badger people to sell sound securities for the purpose of exchanging into a share that is comparatively worthless. An instance was mentioned this week of an individual who was induced to sell a British Government security and place the proceeds in a speculative enterprise, which is evidently of very doubtful merit, and for which there is no ready market. While there are foolish people in the world, unscrupulous outsiders will be encouraged, and even the tightening up of the Companies Act fails to check their activities; but the public should be warned against plausible share canvassers, and even if speculative securities are bought the business should always be conducted through a member of a recognised Stock Exchange or a bank.

INTERNATIONAL NICKEL.

LORD MELCHETT'S REPORT.

Lord Melchett, Chairman of the Advisory Committee of the International Nickel Co., who went to Canada in the middle of last month, and has just returned, has issued a report of his visit of inspection with the directors of the company to the mines and refineries.

"The refinery at Port Colborne has developed since my last visit four years ago," says Lord Melchett in the course of his report. "The processes have been considerably simplified and cheapened, and the capacity for the manufacture of electrolytic nickel considerably extended. Extensive improvements have also been made in the section dealing with the recovery of precious metal residues. The Frood Mine, which has now become the main supply, contains a much larger ratio of precious metals than was formerly mined by the company, and this particular sphere of activity has now become one of very considerable importance.

"From Port Colborne we moved on through Toronto to Copper Cliff and Sudbury, which is the headquarters of the company's mining and smelting operations.

"Perhaps the most interesting departure was the concentration and flotation mill by which large proportions of the copper in the Frood ore are separated by direct flotation. The blister copper is afterwards treated in the electrolytic copper refinery for the manufacture of electrolytic copper and the recovery of gold and silver, of which this ore contains a very considerable amount.

FROOD MINE.

"Most time was given to the inspection of the Frood Mine, in which there are some thirteen miles of levels, with the necessary stopes or chutes and other developments for the production of a very large tonnage. By means of the plant of the Ontario Refining Company, which is jointly owned by the American Metal Company and International Nickel, the Nickel Company becomes entirely self-contained so far as the production of copper for the market is concerned, instead of having to send the blister copper to United States refineries for treatment.

"To one who, like myself, has been connected with the industry for over a quarter of a century," concludes Lord Melchett, "it is a great satisfaction to see the growth to which it has at present attained, and the still more important developments it must attain in the not very distant future."

TONE AND COMMENT.

DUBLIN "LOCALS" SUPPORTED.

STAGNANT MARKETS.

Actual business done was even more circumscribed on 'Change yesterday, and as to-day and to-morrow will be the last regular dealing days for the present settlement, it is evident little improvement can be looked for, at the earliest, until operations for the new account can be entered on next Monday. Local securities, where dealt in, were well held, but prices from the other side continue to reflect stagnation and the indifference of operators to extend in any way commitments for the present settlement. Government National Loan 5 p.c. Sterling lost the previous day's gain, but others did not alter, except Land Bonds 4½ p.c., which scored a further improvement at 95⅞. British Funds and Corporation Stocks were more inclined to mark time than move much one way or the other, but the scarcity of supplies is constantly shown in the latter section. Further inquiry was experienced for Bank of Ireland Stock at an enhanced level, but Munster and Leinsters and Nationals were quietly dull. Guinness Ord. and Pref. were supported in a quiet market, and closed the turn harder. Grand Canal Ord. £10 shares continue in request, but are still held for a 5s. a share advance on last marking. Cables, etc., remain without attention on this side, awaiting some definite evidence of reviving trade. Rails were practically neglected. Among Trams, a further rise was registered in Dublin United "B" 3½ p.c. Deb. Stock. Alliance Gas continue to gain in favour. Parent Trust Pref. were again firmer. There was a slight gain in Courtaulds, but Coats Ord. were weaker, though the £10 Pref. improved. Imperial Chemicals were supported at a slight recovery, but Imperial Tobaccos closed over lowest. Brooks, Thomas Pref. closed higher for a limited transaction. Burke Pref. were dull, but the Debs. closed wanted. Unilevers made good a portion of the previous day's fall.

LONDON FIRMER.

RAILWAY ISSUES DEPRESSED.

Although there was no material expansion in the volume of business passing in the London Stock Markets yesterday, rather brighter conditions were apparent, and price movements generally favoured holders, though here and there dull and easier markets were evident. Several of the Argentine Rails were scaled down on the somewhat disappointing dividend announcements—"Leos" especially suffering from the announcement that dividends on the 5½ per Cent. Preference and Ordinary Stocks are deferred until the figures of the complete financial year are available. Reports were current in the Brewery section yesterday that a new issue is shortly to be made by Samuel Allsopp. It is expected that the amount will be about £500,000, and will be offered at 22s. 6d.

Little of interest transpired among British Funds, but values as a rule were well maintained, with Irish Free State 4½ per Cent. Land Bonds a point firmer to 96. Among Colonial Government issues Australians continued dull, but Foreign Government Stocks maintained a quiet and steady tone. Somewhat easier conditions characterised Home Rails, following the traffic returns, but the actual losses were narrow. Colonial and Foreign Rails, as mentioned above, experienced a set-back, and some substantial losses were recorded. Despite the almost general slackness of interest, the industrial sections wore a firmer appearance yesterday. Imperial Airways exceptionally went off sharply on the reduction in the dividend to 5 per cent.

INDUSTRIAL MARKET.

AUSTIN MOTORS STRONG.

IMPERIAL AIRWAYS FLAT.

If anything, the Industrial market presented a steadier appearance yesterday, but trading still remained of small dimensions. New York advices proved rather more encouraging, and this had a beneficial effect on values generally, though there was still a certain amount of hesitation in places.

All the trans-Atlantic issues improved, but prices reacted somewhat in the later dealings, though still showing improvement on the day. Brazilian Tractions, after being up to 38⅛, reacted eventually to 37⅞. Hydro-Electrics finished at 40, after 40½; Nickels at 25⅞, after 26¼, and Radio Corporations at 41¼, after 41¾. British Columbia Power "A" hardened to 40, and the "B" shares to 15¾, with International Holdings rather buyers at 5.

Columbia "Graphs" closed harder at 3 17/32, and "Gramos" (H.M.V.) at 3¼. Vocalions strengthened to 11s. 9d. Cables and Wireless "A" Ord. lost ½ to 26½, but the Pref. and "B" Ord. were unchanged.

Among Film shares, Gaumont-British reflected the increased profits, the Ord. advancing 9d. to 13s. 6d. Although there was not a great deal doing in the Electrical section, values had a firm appearance.

A renewed demand sprang up for Austin Motors in anticipation of the report and accounts, the final quote of 35s. leaving them 2s. 3d. to the good on the day. Napiers were wanted at 10s. 9d., and Guys at 13s., but Leylands, National Omnibus Ord., and Rovers lost the turn.

The Iron, Coal and Steel group finished rather on the dull side. Imperial Airways Ord. suffered a setback following the lower profits and reduced dividend, the price falling 1/16 to 1¼.

Little disposition was seen to support Textiles, but a few Rayon issues were revived, and Canadian Celanese Common were marked up ⅛ to 2¼.

In the Refreshment and Catering section Home and Colonials gave way a few pence further to 13s. 1½d., while International Teas drooped to 20s. 6d. Scribbans were bought up to 16s. Stores stiffened the turn here and there.

With a new issue of shares in prospect Allsopp Ordinary were marked down further to the extent of 1s. to 24s. 6d., and other Brewery issues proved dull in sympathy.

Tobaccos remained quiet and steady, but News continued on the down grade. Banking issues presented a firmer front, though movements were of little consequence. The Insurance group were again dull.

Among Shipping issues Cunards gave way a few pence at 19s. 3d., following scattered sales, and P. and O. Deferred were again offered, and left off with a further loss of 6d. at 44s.

In the Miscellaneous section Kreuger and Toll were marked up ⅜ to 27⅜, while Swedish Match received attention in the neighbourhood of 15. S.K.F. recovered 1/16 to 10¼, and Electrolux were the subject of quiet inquiry at 5½. Imperial Chemicals and Turner and Newalls had a firmer appearance, but United Molasses drooped. Salt Unions gained 1/16 at 1⅝. Dunlops, at 11s. 3d., closed without variation.

RECENT ISSUE DEALINGS.

Marks and Spencer Debentures were in request and hardened to 105¼, while the Preference had a firm appearance at 21s. 9d. South Metropolitan Gas Debentures were levelled to 3 prem.

OIL SHARES HARDER.

Although dealings were on a quiet scale in the Oil Share Market, a harder tendency was apparent. Paris operators continued to support their favourites, buying orders being received from that centre for Shell Bearer and for the Eagle issues, as a result of which the prices strengthened, while a further improvement in Royal Dutch was attributable to demand from Amsterdam. Several of the miscellaneous issues also strengthened. Final quotations were not in all cases the best of the day, but the movements recorded mostly favoured holders.

RUBBER SHARES STEADY.

Extremely quiet conditions again prevailed in the Rubber Share Market, but in sympathy with raw material values the undertone was somewhat firmer, though actual price movements were few, and of little consequence. Following upon the appreciable improvement recorded in commodity values on the preceding day, the spot quotation opened still higher yesterday at 4 5/16d. per pound, subsequently easing to 4¼d. per pound. November went from 4½d. to 4 7/16d per pound, and December from 4 7/16d. to 4½d. per pound.

DIVIDENDS AND REPORTS.

HEITON (THOMAS) AND CO.—6 per cent. per annum and a bonus of 2 per cent. (together 5/- per share) on Ord.

ARGENTINE NORTH-EASTERN RAILWAY CO.—Final distribution of 2½ per cent. on the "C" Debs. and Deb. stock, making the full interest for the past financial year, less tax. (Same.)

BURNLEY PAPER WORKS.—Dividend of 3d. per share, making 6d. per share. (Same.)

BATU CAVES TIN.—A circular to the shareholders states that owing to the depressed state of the tin metal market and the low prices obtainable for ore, the directors have decided to cease mining operations, and close down the plant for a period of six months. Arrangements are such that the company is in a position to start producing at any time should conditions warrant it.

BUENOS AYRES GREAT SOUTHERN RAILWAY CO.—Balance dividend on Ord. of 3 per cent., less tax, making 6 per cent. for the whole year ended 30th June, 1930. (Last year 5 per cent., making 8 per cent. for year.)

BUENOS AYRES WESTERN RAILWAY.—Balance dividend on Ord. of 2½ per cent., less tax, making 5 per cent., less tax, for the year ended 30th June, 1930. (Last year 4 per cent., making 7 per cent.)

CHICAGO-GAIKA DEVELOPMENT.—2½ per cent. (Against 5 per cent.)

CENTRAL URUGUAY RAILWAY CO. OF MONTE VIDEO.—Dividend of 2¾ per cent., less tax, on the 5½ per cent. Non.-Cum. Pref. shares, making 5½ per cent. for the year, and 3 per cent., less tax, on Ord., making 6 per cent. for the year ended 30th June, 1930. (Last year 4 per cent., making 7 per cent. for year.)

CENTRAL URUGUAY NORTHERN EXTENSION RAILWAY CO.—Balance dividend of 8/- per share, less tax, on the share capital, making 13/- per share for the year ended 30th June, 1930. (Last year 8/6 per share, making 14/- for year.)

CENTRAL URUGUAY EASTERN EXTENSION RAILWAY CO.—Following dividends recommended: 2½ per cent., less tax, on the 5 per cent. Non-Cum. Pref. shares, making 5 per cent. for the year, and 15/- per share, less tax, on the Ord., making 21/- per share, for the year ended 30th June, 1930. (Last year 15/6 per share, making 22/- per share.)

ENTRE RIOS RAILWAYS CO.—Following balance dividends, less tax, recommended for the year ended 30th June, 1930:—3 per cent. on the 6 per cent. 1st Pref. stock, making 6 per cent. for the year; 2 per cent. on the 4 per cent. 2nd Pref. stock, making 4 per cent. for the year; and 3 per cent. on the Ord. stock, making 6 per cent. for the year. (Last year 4 per cent. on Ord., making 7 per cent. for year.)

GOPENG CONSOLIDATED.—Dividend of 6d. per share, less tax.

HENRY BUCKNALL AND SONS.—Final dividend of 3 per cent. on Pref., making 6 per cent. for the year ended 31st May, 1930; also a dividend of 3 per cent. on Ord. for the year ended 1st May, 1930. (Same.)

LANKA PLANTATIONS.—Final dividend of 10 per cent. on Ord. Shares, less tax, making 15 per cent. for year, against 17½ per cent. last year.

LONDON AND STRATHCLYDE TRUST.—Dividend on Cum. Pref. Stock at rate of 5 per cent. per annum for half-year ended August 31, 1930, less tax, and on Ord. Stock at rate of 5 per cent. per annum for year ended August 31, 1930, less tax.

LEEDS AND LIVERPOOL CANAL.—Interim dividend on Pref. Stock at rate of 3½ per cent. per annum, subject to deduction of tax. Consideration of payment of a dividend on Ord. Stock was deferred until accounts for full year have been completed.

LEOPOLDINA RAILWAY.—In view of the recent, heavy fall in exchange, the consequent serious accentuation—translated into sterling—of decreased currency receipts, reflecting the general trade depression and the impossibility of forming any reliable estimate of the net earnings of the remaining months of the financial year, the Board, at their meeting yesterday, decided to defer consideration of the payment of a dividend in respect of the 5½ per cent. Pref. stock until the figures for the complete financial year are available. For similar reason, the directors are unable to make any interim payment on account of the company's Ord. stock. (Last year 2¾ per cent. was paid on Pref., and 2 per cent. on Ord.)

SHAWINIGAN WATER AND POWER.—Dividend on Common Shares of 5/8 per share for quarter ended September 30 (8½ for corresponding period last year).

SAMUEL MARSDEN AND SONS (MANCHESTER).—No Ord. dividend.

SEAPORT RUBBER.—During the year ended June 30 last profits fell from £12,511 to £2,702, to which was added £20,391 brought in. Taxation reserve is to receive £500 (as against £1,500), and £1,000 is to be transferred to special cultivation reserve, whereas a year ago £2,500 was added to general reserve. The remaining £21,593 will be carried forward. (Last year a dividend of 6 per cent. was paid.) The average net sale price, including the estimated value of the unsold portion, was 5.86d., as against 8.87d. per lb. in the previous year.

VULCAN FOUNDRY.—Dividend of 7½ per cent. actual, less tax, for year (against 10 per cent. last year).

OIL PRODUCTION.

Service Petroleum Co.—Production from the company's oil wells at Gura-Ocnitzei, Ceptura and Moreni for the week ended 7th Sept.—27,195 barrels.

LONDON WOOL SALES.

Three catalogues were submitted, totalling 10,000 bales, including 609 New South Wales, 1,145 Queensland, 665 Victorian, 325 West Australian, 118 South Australian, 5,929 New Zealand, 826 Cape, 162 Tasmanian, 130 Kenya Colony. The above constituted a fairly attractive selection, and met with good general competition, prices being up to opening level. All the better growths ruled steady, but inferior sorts were frequently withdrawn owing to lack of support.

LONDON MINING SHARE MARKET QUIET.

BUSINESS ON SMALL SCALE.

There was still a dearth of business in the Mining market yesterday, but the tendency was a little steadier. The Cape came in a buyer of some of its Kaffir favourites in the morning, and was followed by Paris in the later dealings. Trading was far from brisk, but in the absence of any selling pressure it was sufficient to cause several improvements, though they were of modest dimensions. Kleinfontein did not respond to the announcement that diamond drilling has been commenced in the central area of the mine to test the possibility of there being the remnant of another reef underlying those which have already been worked. After hours this company published a cablegram from the Johannesburg office to the effect that there is no foundation for the amalgamation rumours current recently. There was very little doing in the Rhodesian market but prices presented a rather steadier appearance. The price of tin dropped to £134 1s. 3d. per ton in the morning, and recovered to £134 2s. 6d. per ton at the close of the afternoon market, this being 2s. 6d. down on balance. Conditions in the share market were much the same as on the previous day. Copper slipped back 1s. 3d. further to £46 3s. 9d. per ton. The share market however, was fairly firm. Closing prices:—

THE MONEY MARKET.

RATES FIRMER.

Credit was rather less plentiful in Lombard street yesterday, the market making fairly heavy payments for new bills. For fresh balances until to-day borrowers generally paid 1½ to 1¼ per cent.; while day-to-day renewals outside the clearing Bank area cost 1½ per cent.

Bank Rate Discount (change May 1, 1930) 3%
60 days (fine)		2 1/32%
3 months	2 1/16	2 3/32%	Trade	3	3½%
4 ,,	2 5/16	2¼%	,,	3¼	3½
6 ,,		2 1/16%	,,	3½	4%
Loans to Brokers Day-to-day				1½	1¼
,, for a week				2	1¾%
Deposit Allowance; Banks at Call				1	%
Discount Houses at Call				1	%
,, at Notice				1¼	%

Business in discounts was again very quiet, with the undertone steady. There were both buyers and sellers of three months' Bank bills at 2 1/16 per cent.; while one or two of the clearing banks bought October dates at 2 per cent. A little inquiry for November bills at 2 1/32 per cent. did not result in business. The "hot" Treasuries again changed hands at 2 1/32 per cent.

On a little Eastern buying silver prices were fixed 1/16d. higher at 16⅞d. per ounce for both spot and forward delivery. Gold was fixed ¼d. lower at 85s. 0½d. per fine ounce.

At the Bank of England £8,741 in bar gold was sold, £5,000 in sovereigns exported, and £20,835 in sovereigns set aside.

The appreciation of the franc was further accentuated in the foreign exchange market yesterday, the French rate closing fully 2c. lower than Tuesday's finish at 123.72. Reichsmarks were finally unchanged at 20.40. Sterling on New York was finally quoted at a little under 4.86 3/32, as against Tuesday's close of nearly 4.85⅞. Canadian dollars also depreciated, the final quotation of 4.85½ being 1/16c. higher than the previous finish. Argentine dollars improved fractionally to 40 11/16d., while the milreis weakened by about 1/16d. to 4 11/16d.

SCOTTISH AMALGAMATED SILKS.

LIVELY SHAREHOLDERS' MEETING.

Lively scenes marked an extraordinary meeting in Glasgow yesterday of shareholders in Scottish Amalgamated Silks, Limited, at which it was decided to go into voluntary liquidation. The company has a capital of £2,000,000 in five shilling and one shilling shares, now valued at only a few coppers each.

The meeting lasted two hours, and several women shareholders shouted criticisms at the Chairman.

Mr. F. A. Tomlinson (the Chairman) explained that the liquidation of the company had been deemed necessary because present trading conditions and the prospects were so black that the directors considered it would be more in the shareholders' interest to conserve what assets were remaining, rather than incur further losses by continued trading. Before deciding to close down they made every effort to secure from the Bank of England—which, they believed, had Government support—and other bankers, financial assistance to the extent of £100,000 to £200,000, offering a charge on the company's assets which exceeded that amount three or four times over. One would have thought, he said, that with ample cover there would have been no difficulty in securing an advance, but such was the pessimistic feeling with regard to the textile industry as a whole that they were unable to get any favourable consideration, and this notwithstanding the speeches of various Cabinet Ministers and the amount of unemployment current.

Mr. Tomlinson added that he was hopeful that developments in the way of amalgamation and rationalisation in the industry would mature. He believed that, provided a sound scheme for the whole industry could be evolved, the necessary finance would be found.

DIRECTORS CRITICISED.

Strong criticism of the directorate was expressed in a report read by Mr. C. C. Duncan, who spoke for the committee of shareholders appointed to investigate the company's affairs. The directors, he said, had not met the committee's wishes in several respects. The committee suggested that the directors should pay back some portion of their fees, amounting to £7,072.

Mr. T. Elliott, a shareholder, moving a direct negative, said—"I feel I have been a fool. You will all feel the same. I have not very much at stake. I can afford to lose it, but I just feel I have been had too easily. I do not think we could have found seven Scotsmen such absolute children as the directors whose names appeared on the prospectus have been."

Mr. Elliot said that there was a way of having the affairs of the company investigated by law. They could have a Board of Trade inspection if one-tenth of the shareholders desired it. That was the proper course for the company.

Another shareholder claimed that when the company was formed it was because of the directors' names—all well-known men in the commercial world who had made a success of their own business—that he had invested his money in it.

EVERY PENNY OF SAVINGS GONE.

A woman, whose voice rose above the noise in the hall, said, when silence was restored: "In view of the mismanagement, what redress have the women, and the lone woman who has put every penny of her savings into this company?"

A poll was demanded on an amendment not to liquidate, but the solicitor for the company announced that the directors held proxies from 1,888 individual shareholders, which gave them more than a three-fourths majority.

The Chairman announced that the motion to liquidate was, therefore, carried.

When the appointment of the liquidators to be appointed was raised, it was stated that the proxies held by the directors carried the nominations of Mr. S. Adamson (Glasgow), and Mr. Harry Sharp (Manchester).

"If you have the proxies," shouted a shareholder, "why continue to fool us."

The Chairman—You knew all along we held these proxies.

Announcing that the meeting was over, Mr. Tomlinson said he wanted to say that he was probably the biggest loser among those present. Replying to an interruption, Mr. Tomlinson said:—"Everybody knows what a speculative business it has been. I did not think, when I was putting my money into it, that I was going to lose it. Although we have done badly, our results will compare favourably with any other silk company at the present time."

Scottish Amalgamated Silks, Ltd., was registered in June, 1923. Of its £2,000,000 registered capital £1,830,276 has been issued according to the Stock Exchange Year Book, and there are calls in arrear of £423,414. This company controls Scottish Artificial Silks, Limited.

RAYON MARKET.

HIGH-CLASS DRESS GOODS IN DEMAND.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.
MANCHESTER, Wednesday.

Buying of rayon piece goods is without vigour. While inquiries have been more numerous, actual turnover has shown little improvement. Many looms remain idle. A fair trade has gone through in high-class dress goods, crêpes, taffetas and satins being in moderate request, and corset cloths and all rayon linings have moved steadily for various markets; but printed goods and mixture and furnishing fabrics have been rather neglected. Manufacturers complain, however, of the smallness of the orders placed.

The best market has been in Canada, while Australia and Africa and New Zealand have lent quiet support, and Egypt has done a fair trade.

Buying for Dutch East Indies has been seriously hampered by the recent slump in rubber.

Indian operations continue small, though inquiries are numerous, and China has only purchased occasional small lots.

Best quality yarns, excepting crêpes, have been in poor request, and price-cutting is still prevalent in low-grade viscose.

ARGENTINE RAILWAY DIVIDENDS.

Some disappointment was expressed yesterday with the Buenos Aires Great Southern and Buenos Aires Western dividends. In the former case the distribution is reduced from 8 per cent. to 6 per cent. The interim payment was maintained at 3 per cent., but the balance dividend is reduced from 5 per cent. to 3 per cent. The smaller dividend means the distribution of £640,000 less among the stock holders, and the result was to be anticipated from the decrease in gross receipts for the year of £892,000, plus the loss on effecting remittances to this country through the depreciation of the peso. The Ordinary Stock is quoted at about 86 1/4, and, allowing for the balance dividend in the price, it yields over 7 per cent. The Buenos Aires Western interim dividend was reduced from 3 to 2 1/2 per cent., and the balance payment is also 2 1/2 per cent., making 5 per cent. for the year, against 7 per cent. for 1928-29. In this case the reduction means the distribution of about £347,000 less, and, as the published decrease in gross receipts exceeded £900,000, the result points to a considerable saving in working expenses. Buenos Aires Western Ordinary is quoted about 66 1/2, a price that includes the balance dividend, allowing for which the stock yields over 7 7/8 per cent.

LEYLAND RUBBER COMPANY'S HEAVY FALL IN PROFITS.

The Leyland and Birmingham Rubber Company, Ltd., which is engaged in the manufacture of rubber goods and waterproofing, etc., report a decline of £72,699 in revenue for the year ended June 30th, 1930. The profit amounted to £67,649, as compared with £140,348 in the previous period, and, with £33,696 brought forward, there is £101,345, against £166,260. As already known, the directors recommend a final dividend of 5 per cent. on the Ordinary shares, less tax, making 7 1/2 per cent. for the year, against a total of 12 1/2 per cent. in the previous year. The balance of £28,302 is carried forward.

CALICO PRINTERS DIRECTORS' FEES.

Only nine shareholders voted for a reduction of the directors' fees from £12,000 to £6,000 at the meeting of the Calico Printers Association, Ltd., in Manchester yesterday. The proposal was overwhelmingly defeated.

ROYAL MAIL STEAM PACKET COMPANY.

The directors of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company met in London yesterday to consider, it is understood, a proposal to sell the whole of the Ordinary and Preference shares held by the R.M.S.P. and its associates in the Argentine Navigation Company (Nicolas Mihanovich) to an Anglo-Argentine group. No statement was issued after the meeting.

CELTIC COLLIERIES.

It has been decided to abandon the pits of the Celtic Collieries, which have been in the hands of a receiver since March last. This decision has been adopted in view of the fact that no bids have been received for the property. A commencement was made with the abandonment on Tuesday, when the horses were brought up from the pits. The company has an issued and paid-up capital of £230,000. A compulsory winding-up order was made last March.

MINING FUSION DENIED.

The London agents of the New Kleinfontein Co., Ltd., the Anglo-French Exploration Co., Ltd., Salisbury House, E.C., announce that a cablegram, dated yesterday, has been received from Johannesburg to the effect that there is no foundation for rumours of amalgamation of the New Kleinfontein Co. and Van Ryn Deep, Ltd. In reporting these rumours we pointed out that confirmation could not be obtained at the London offices of either company.

RUBBER SLUMP.

A message from Amsterdam states that Java Rubber Estates are closing down owing to the depression in the Rubber market. A Government estate is also closing down, and has dismissed the majority of its native labourers. The Lanadron Rubber Estates, Ltd., have suspended tapping on their Jementah Estate of 2,263 acres. The company's estates are situated in Muar, State of Johore, Malay Peninsula. Their total area is 11,708 acres.

BRITISH MONOMARKS, LTD.

The directors, in their report for the year ended December 31, 1929, issued last night, state that the trading loss is £6,390, as compared with £16,074 in 1928. The report states that after the late board last year had recommended liquidation because they considered the company's affairs could not be carried on without fresh capital, and that recommendation had been rejected by the shareholders, a committee of shareholders was appointed. The committee have reported in favour of carrying on the company, and the present board are adopting their recommendation.

NEW KLEINFONTEIN GOLD MINE.

The following cablegram has been received from Johannesburg:—"In the central area of the mine between Nos. 3 and 4 shafts some reef was discovered some time ago in the footwall of an old stope above the seventh level. This reef, which on being opened up was found to dip steeply into the underlying measures, has provided three small stopes giving moderately good values. Recent investigation has suggested that, instead of this occurrence being due to thrust faulting, it may be due to some other phenomena, such as the existence of a remnant of some other reef underlying those which have hitherto been worked. Diamond drilling to test this possibility was commenced on Thursday, the 11th instant, but there has been insufficient time for any results to be obtained."

THE BRITISH ISSUES OF FRENCH RENTES.

It is said that next year the French Government intends to redeem the whole of the London and Dublin issues of the 5 per Cent. Rentes. If so, the tremendous loss to those investors who gave financial support to France at a critical stage of the War will be made definite, with no hope of receiving compensation in the future (says Truth). The loss was due to the depreciation of the franc and its stabilisation at one-fourth of its pre-war value. Thus a holder of 2,500 francs of the 5 per Cent. Rentes issued in this country who subscribed in the belief that the 125 francs received annually as interest would be worth about £5, as they would have been had the exchange been maintained, now gets only a trifle over 20s., and France, in fact, has wiped out four-fifths of its external debt. The amount of the 5 per Cent. Rentes issued on this side was 1,053,135,200 francs. At the subscription price the money paid by British investors exceeded £33,500,000, but the present market value is about £8,800,000, representing a loss of approximately £24,700,000. If the above report proves to be correct it is to be presumed that a strong endeavour will be made by the Committee of French Bondholders to obtain repayment at the rate of exchange current when the issue was made. France is enjoying exceptional prosperity just now, and could well afford to extend what would be merely an act of justice to investors on this side.

CONDITIONS IN AUSTRALIA.

The National Bank of Australasia gives the following purport of a cablegram received from Melbourne dated 11th inst.:—"Trade depression is deepening, notwithstanding many adjustments already made. Lower production costs appear essential. Australia is greatly indebted to the Niemeyer mission. Sir Otto Niemeyer commends resolutions of Premiers' Conference to provide for balanced Budgets. Delay in taking action is deprecated. A small section of politicians are attempting to avoid Conference resolutions, but their influence is only small and their proposals most improbable of acceptance. It is recommended that representative non-political committees be set up to advise the State and Commonwealth Governments. Unemployment continues heavy. Stock Exchange prices reflect a further weakening of industrial shares, with Government stocks steady at slightly lower prices. Production prospects in the agricultural and pastoral industries are excellent, although prices are disappointing. Subject to later weather conditions, a large wheat yield is probable. Butter exports are increasing. For July there was a marked decline in imports, while exports improved."

COMMENT ON DUNLOP CIRCULAR.

In their weekly Rubber market report, bearing yesterday's date, Messrs. Symington and Sinclair deal with the Dunlop Rubber Company's recent circular on the position. The report states:—"A circular letter was issued on Thursday by the Dunlop Rubber Company to their shareholders commenting on the rubber position as it affected the Dunlop Company with their large estates, and one statement contained in the circular—namely, that the Dunlop Company hoped to be producing rubber shortly at 3d. per pound—was widely commented on, and had a somewhat depressing effect on the market, the statement being so very much out of accord with the previous statements by other interested parties, to the effect that no company could possibly produce rubber without a loss at present prices. The Dunlop Company's circular, which is a lengthy document, puts the price at which native production will increase as high as 8 1/2d. Sir Eric Geddes, who signs the circular, gives chapter and verse for all his statements, and, reading the document as a whole, it should not really encourage bearish views."

CELEBRITONE ASSETS.

In connection with the voluntary winding up of Celebritone, Ltd., the liquidators inform the shareholders that an offer has been received from Orchorsol Sound Reproduction, Ltd., to acquire the remaining assets of the company, comprising the uncollected book debts, the proceeds of any collected since September 3, 1930, the remaining stock, patent rights and goodwill, for £7,000, payable in cash. This sum, together with the money in the hands of the liquidators, will, it is anticipated, be sufficient to pay the creditors' claims in full. A provisional agreement will be entered into. The purchasing company, in addition to the payment of the before-mentioned sum, are to give the right to the shareholders of Celebritone to have allotted to them two 1s. shares in Orchorsol, each credited :s 8d. paid up, for every fully-paid share of 2s. held in Celebritone.

CORK SHORTHORN SHOW.

ENTRIES DOWN BY 40 PER CENT.

QUALITY SOMEWHAT DISAPPOINTING.

FROM OUR AGRICULTURAL CORRESPONDENT.
CORK, Wednesday.

For the eighth annual show and sale of the Irish Dairy Shorthorn Breeders' Society, held in the Show Grounds, Cork, to-day, there were sixty entries, as compared with a hundred last year. In this respect, and also in that of quality, it was somewhat disappointing, although some of the winners were highly meritorious.

One of the judges on this occasion was a young man who won a prize at the judging competition last year.

At the sale which followed prices were fairly good.

DAIRY SHORTHORNS.

There were ten entries in the class for registered dairy Shorthorn cows, pure-bred or non-pedigreed, and Pat Beechinor, Sleaveen, Clonakilty, led with Cullie, a 1,162-gallon roan. Her herd companion, Beauty, a 1,355-gallon roan by the same sire, Garrylaurence Minstrel, was second. They also won the Sutton Cup for the best pair of registered dairy cows from one District Branch of the Irish Dairy Shorthorn Breeders' Society in Co. Cork. Mrs. N. Buckley, Bishopstown, was third with Ashgrove Connaught Rose 4th, another 1,300-gallon roan, sired by Leeming's Heir. She was followed by William O'Callaghan, Lombardstown, with his Kilmallock winner, Wild Lass, a nine years old roan with a record of 1,036 gallons. Her herd companion, Colleen Bawn, was reserve, and was also reserve for the Sutton Cup.

Four registered dairy Shorthorn bulls were headed by Timothy O'Sullivan, Crookstown, Co. Cork, with Goldie Gaffer, a roan yearling of useful type, bred by R. Hall, Smithboro, and of the famous Goldie tribe. James S Quinlan, Ardgiare, Mitchelstown, was second with Cloughduv Revenue, an eight years old red by Baron Romulus, bred by Tim O'Sullivan. Cornelius Cremin, Donoughmore, was third with Shanakiel Rambler, a two years old red by Dromore Monarch.

For two years old pure-bred dairy Shorthorn heifers, Timothy O'Sullivan provided a good leader in Roan Bunny 35th, a red, by Broadhooks Champion. She was retained by her owner, who secured second prize with Cloughduv Countess 4th and third with Cloughduv Broadhooks 7th. These, with another member of the same herd, realised 36 guineas each.

Mr. James Sheehy, Skibbereen, was given first prize for his pure-bred yearling dairy shorthorn heifer Cloughduv Bellona 11th.

For dairy shorthorn heifer calves T. O'Sullivan's Cloughduv Rowena 21st was first.

Non-pedigree two years old shorthorn heifers' recognised progeny were headed by Mrs. H. C. Scriven, Killeens Farm, with Lady Anne 2nd, a spotted roan. John Dineen, Clonmult, was second with Lady Daylight, and T. O'Sullivan third with Blossom 4th.

Non-pedigree Yearling Shorthorn Heifers—1st, Cornelius Cremin, Donoughmore, with Cremona Beauty, a light roan by Melleray Model; 2nd, James Sheehy, Drisheen, with Lily of Drisheen, which, with another from the same herd, was reserve for the Lucey and O'Connell Cup. Michael Santry, Castlefreke, Clonakilty, was third with Milkmaid 3rd.

Non-pedigree Shorthorn Bull Calves' recognised progeny (eight entries)—1st, T. J. Burton, Millstreet, with Mack's Hope; 2nd, James S. Quinlan, Mitchelstown, with Ardglare Atavist 2nd; 3rd, James Quinlan's Ardglare Nonsuch.

Pure-bred Yearling Shorthorn Bull—1st, T. J. Burton's Mine Hill Knight.

ABERDEEN-ANGUS.

Older Aberdeen-Angus Heifers—1st, Captain T. A. Clarke's Patience of Farran; 2nd, Victoria of Farran; 3rd, Jess of Farran.

Aberdeen-Angus Heifer Calves—1st, 2nd and 3rd, R. Smith Barry, Fota Island, whose March calf Vitality of Foaty won the Irish Aberdeen-Angus Association's silver medal, Captain Clarke's Patience being reserve.

THE CUPS.

The Lucey and O'Connell Cup, for yearling or two years old heifers, from one district branch of the Irish Dairy Shorthorn Breeders' Society, went to T. O'Sullivan's second prize, Cloughduv Countess 4th, and Mrs. H. C. Scriven's first prize, Lady Anne 2nd. The reserve for this honour went to James Sheehy, Skibbereen, for his first prize, Cloughduv Bellona 11th, and his second prize, Lily of Drisheen.

The Atkins Cup, for pair of bull calves, from one district branch of the Society, went to Mr. T. J. Burton's first prize, Mack's Hope and Mine Hill Knight. James S. Quinlan was reserve with his second and third prize-winners, Ardglare Atavist 2nd and Nonsuch.

The Examiner Cup, for the best non-pedigree registered cow, and two of her recognised female progeny, went to William O'Callaghan's Scarragh, for his roan, Colleen Bawn.

Mr. Smith Barry won the Irish Aberdeen-Angus Association's Silver Medal with his calf, Vitality of Soaty, Captain Clarke's two-year-old heifer, Patience, being reserve

£150 ex Works, Cork

COSTS CUT DOWN—MONEY SAVED —RISKS DIMINISHED—WITH A FORDSON

A FARMER in England has two Fordsons. He is saving £85 a year on his threshing bill alone. He also saves about £75 a year by using his tractors for ploughing. His Fordson drives a 4' 6" full size thresher and a 5-knife chaff cutter with a bagger in one operation.

Another farmer has 130 acres of arable land. For his 7 horses, when doing general heavy farm work, he had kept a stack of clover and a stack of oats. On buying a Fordson, he was able to sell the clover stack for £46, and part of the oat stack for £83; besides this he cut down his labour costs £3 per week, and was able to sell one horse for £56. He still had enough food for the horses, which were now required for much lighter work.

Ploughing from 5 to 10 shillings per acre

This farmer can plough 3 to 4 acres a day with his Fordson, and reckons ploughing at 5/- per acre, which covers fuel, oil and ploughshares. Depending on the kind of soil the Fordson costs from 5/- to 10/- per acre ploughing.

The economical Fordson is enabling an increasing number of farmers to cut their costs down to a minimum.

Economy is necessary to-day

These men realise that the present conditions of farming demand the greatest economy in every operation. No unnecessary expenditure can be allowed—no losses or delays risked, in these days.

The Fordson starts saving real money as soon as it gets on your farm. On the average farm it pays for itself in the first 12 months.

With a Fordson you can get your work done when the weather is right—you can work overtime in emergencies—keep every acre in good condition at low cost.

Ask your dealer for a demonstration. He will be glad to calculate your costs with you.

FEATURES OF THE NEW FORDSON TRACTOR

More power than before, with smaller fuel consumption per acre.
3-furrow ploughing, 4' 6" threshing now easily within the new Fordson's range.
Light weight, for power produced.
Simple design, strong construction, durable materials.
Very accessible, no mechanical knowledge or experience needed to operate the Fordson.
Paraffin—The Fordson operates efficiently on paraffin.
Magneto fitted with impulse starter for easy starting.
Price—Low because of Fordson's unique methods of production.
Extra Parts—Each Fordson dealer carries complete stock of parts. Fordson facilities unequalled. Exceptionally low charges for labour and parts.
Fordson tractors for the whole world are now built at Cork.

AUSTRALIAN WOOL SALES.

At yesterday's wool sale at Sydney, 11,543 bales were offered, of which 8,765 were sold. Private sales consisted of 5,231 bales. There was an average selection. Wool showing quality when in light condition and containing little burr met with good demand, and sold at prices on a par with the rates at the previous sales. Faulty, broad-fibred, and dusty sorts were practically neglected, and heavy withdrawals were necessary. The Continent and Japan were active, and Bradford and America operated on a moderate scale. Greasy merinos made up to 16 1/4d., comebacks 10d., and crossbreds 8 1/4d.

IRISH-GROWN APPLES.

CONFERENCE TO CONSIDER MARKETING PROBLEM.

A conference has been arranged to take place in the Boardroom of the Free State Department of Agriculture, Upper Merrion street, Dublin, on Wednesday next at 2 p.m., for the purpose of considering what steps can be taken to improve the marketing of Irish-grown apples. A circular has been issued to the various interests concerned, including apple-growers, salesmen of the Dublin markets, retailers of fruit, transport companies, manufacturers of fruit containers and packing, representatives of the Irish Farmers' Union and the Irish Agricultural Organisation Society.

The circular states:—"This being a year in which there is a really good crop of Irish-grown apples, reported to be of excellent quality, and being aware of the existing unsatisfactory marketing facilities, we believe that a special and immediate effort is essential if apple-growers are to have a reasonable opportunity of disposing of their orchard produce at a remunerative price."

The circular is signed by Senator R. A. Butler, President of the Irish Farmers' Union; Mr. Michael R. Heffernan, T.D., Chairman, Farmers' Party, and Senator M. F. O'Hanlon.

THE KAFFIR LILY.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times, the Garden Correspondent says:—

There are few more remarkable flowers which brighten up the herbaceous border when beginning to wear that worn and worried look wind and weather imposes at the close of the season than Schizostylis Coccinea, which seems to delay its little spike of brilliant red blossoms to cheer us under probable adverse conditions. True, it may suffer to some extent by early winter nips, and, indeed, when first it was brought from the Kaffir country it was termed a greenhouse plant; but when winter comes catching it in the height of its beauty the simple protection of an old garden light propped over a planting will enable its fascinating flowers to develop in perfection, and another trick of the old-time gardener was that of potting up little clumps at this season to help the greenhouse gaiety.
